JURY GETS TURNPIKE CASE TODAY

Dixie Foes of Civil Rights in Crucial Victory

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson said today there is a "good chance" the Senate within two weeks will approve a civil rights bill with a jury trial amendment.

It would be essentially a voting rights bill.

The Senate headed into the jury trial issue after stripping the bill of a heavily-disputed provison that would have given the attorney general broad injunctive powers to enforce constitutional rights generally.

Dixie foes of the bill scored a crucial victory when the Senate Wednesday voted 52-38 to kill the bulk of the disputed section—Part III of the administration's four-point rights bill.

Ike Silent

Foes of the bill claimed President Eisenhower had repudiated Part III at his news conference last week Supporters pointed out the President had said previously he wanted the bill passed without crippling amendments.

Eisenhower had no immediate comment. Both he and his press secretary, James C Hagerty, were out playing golf when the Senate acted Eighteen Republicans joined 34 Democrats in voting for the bipartisan amendment to strike the section. Twenty-five Republicans and 13 Democrats voted against the amendment, offered by Sens. George D. Aiken (R - Vt.) and Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.).

This left the bill, which has been approved by the House, with three main provisions. They would (1) create a bipartisan commission on civil rights, (2) provide for a new assistant attorney general for civil rights (3) authorize the attorney general to seek injunctions or other civil court action to halt violations or threatened violations of Negro voting rights.

Under the voting rights provision U.S. district judges could jail—without jury trial — persons held in contempt for disregarding injunctions.

Southern opponents have centered their fire against the bill on Part III and the lack of a jury trial guarantee in the voting rights section.

Another Dixie Win Seen

Johnson predicted the southerners also will win on the jury trial issue.

"In my opinion, a substantial majority of the Senate is going to insist on the right of trial by jury," he told newsmen.

Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland differed. He said he believes "we have a very good opportunity of retaining Part IV (The voting rights section) as it came to us from the House."

A vote on a jury trial amendment is not expected before next Monday or Tuesday.

Southerners indicated if such an amendment were adopted they would permit the bill to come to a vote without a filibuster. But they made clear they would vote against it regardless.

Explosion Rips Hole in Plane; One Is Missing

GEORGE AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (UP)—An explosion ripped a four-by-seven-foot hole in a Western Air Lines plane today. A passenger was missing and presumed to have been blown out of the craft.

The airline said pilot Capt. Milk Shirk, Los Angeles, radioed at 3:37 a.m. p.d.t. (6:37 a.m. e.d.t.) that he had declared an emergency existed aboard the Convair-240 because a rear window had blown out.

Two minutes later he reported that a large hole had been blown in the airplane while flying at 10,000 feet. Shirk landed at this Air Force base where military authorities took charge.

Twelve persons were listed on the passenger manifest of Flight 39 when the plane left Las Vegas, Nev., 2.50 a.m. Only 11 were counted when the plane made its emergency landing here.

Three passengers said they had seen a man identified as S. F. Binstock, of North Hollywood, Calif., enter the plane's lavatory shortly after takeoff. They said they never saw him leave the cubicle.

The section ripped out of the plane was at the lavatory.

Charleroi May Sell Part of Recreation Park

The Charleroi Chamber of Commerce has cleared the way for a possible U. S. Army Military Training Center in the community's Recreation Park.

At a meeting this week, the Chamber empowered its trustees to negotiate with the Army in an effort to sell a four acre site in the park.

If secured, the Army building would be 53 feet by 150 feet and would be constructed on the tract between the ball field and tennis courts. It would be a two-unit building.

John LaCarte, chairman of the trustees, was the only C. of C. director to register a negative vote on the issue, stating that he felt the trustees could not legally sell the land.

However Palmer J. McClosky, Chamber solicitor, told the directors he felt the trustees did have the right to sell part of the 30 acre park.

Speeding Trains Cited

W. Newton Crackdown Underway

Ten Baltimore & Ohio Railroad engineers have been cited for exceeding West Newton's 30 mile per hour speed limit.

Police Chief Eugene Letterio said today he "tagged" the engineers as a result of a railroad speed trap which borough officials set up last week.

The engineers have received summonses to appear before Justice of the Peace William P. Parker within 10 days or pay $10 fines, plus $5 costs.

"The trains go too fast," said Burgess George Rohland. "We have protested time and time again. They slow down for two or three days and then it all starts all over again."

Almost two years ago, a truck-train crash killed five persons and caused considerable damage in downtown West Newton.

Use Stop Clocks

Rohland said the borough has tried to be reasonable. He recalled that a 1927 ordinance set the speed limit at 15 miles per hour, but the borough permits double that speed.

Letterio said that he and Patrolman Sam Libbos used stop clocks to determine the speed of trains passing through the borough on July 14, 15 and 16.

According to Letterio, the ten offenders were travelling at speeds ranging from 40 to 58 miles per hour.

"We've threatened arrests in the past," confided Letterio, but we have accepted, instead, promises that the trains would slow down. Now we mean business."

Letterio pointed out that one crossing at Center St. and Fifth St. extension is unprotected, thus making the speeding trains a serious danger.

Numbers Taken

The West Newton police chief said that the numbers of the reportedly speeding trains were taken, then the railroad was asked to supply the name of the engineer. Summonses were then mailed to the alleged offenders.

One of the men arrested, John C Andrake of Pittsburgh, claimed the engineers are caught in the middle of a fight between the borough and the railroad.

He said council ordered the speed trap as a protest against the installation of automatic crossing gates and red flasher lights at Main St. and Vine St. crossings in West Newton.

However Burgess Rohland promptly denied that the retiring of crossing watchmen had anything to do with the crackdown.

According to Andrake "engineers dislike exceeding speed limits."

"However due to the tight schedule . . . and many delays not contemplated, speed limits are exceeded by a slight margin within

Defense Objects To Day's Delay Set by Judge

HARRISBURG (UP) — The long Pennsylvania Turnpike conspiracy trial nears its climax today, with Dauphin County court promising the jury it will receive the case about noon.

Judge Homer L. Kreider instructed the panel of seven men and five women to "find a verdict without fear or favor, without sympathy or prejudice."

The jurist passed on to the jury two key legal points and ruled on a third.

He told the panel it must decide whether or not a February, 1955, contract between the Turnpike Commission and the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading, was a construction contract as claimed by the prosecution or an engineering contract as claimed by the defendants.

Further, the jury must decide if the contract was determined as roadway construction, whether or not it should have been awarded on the basis of competitive bidding, he said.

Kreider ruled the vote of Highways Secretary Joseph J. Lawler, an ex officio turnpike commissioner, did not signify his department's approval of the contract. It is the first court ruling on the question.

Opinion of Court

"It is the opinion of the court," Kreider said, "that under all the circumstances as shown by the evidence, the vote (of Lawler) on the Feb. 28 contract was not an approval of the state Highways Department."

He said that therefore the panel can consider the state's charge of misconduct in office against former Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans and suspended Commissioner James F. Torrance for not obtaining the department's approval.

The ruling knocked down the defense argument that Lawler's vote as a commission member signified the department's approval.

Kreider, after completing a four hour review of the case Wednesday and instructing the jurors in their basic duties, postponed the jury's deliberations until today. He said the reason for the 24-hour delay was the mass of defense arguments submitted to him by the 13-man defense legal battery for inclusion in his instructions to the jury.

He said the defense lawyers presented him 240 legal points which he must review privately before deciding whether or not they are valid arguments to be brought to the attention of the jurors to use in reaching a verdict.

Defense attorneys explained to newsmen the large number of points raised by them, which Kreider termed "unprecedented." resulted from the court's handling of their legal arguments while the trial was in progress.

Chief defense counsel Earl V. Compton said he objected to Judge Kreider's "putting the onus on us" for the postponement of the trial's end.

"Ever since the first day of the trial," Compton said, "Judge Kreider has been postponing legal decisions. Now he has to make them."

Compton said however, the number of points raised by the defense was "not unusual at all." He said the defense attorneys, who had appointed a five-man committee among themselves to draw up the points, presented them to the court for study last week.

Kreider told the jury he will review each of the points raised

Water Authority To Erect Tank In Park Plan

A 65-foot steel water tank will be erected atop Pennsylvania Ave. to supplement the water supply for residents living in and around Park Plan, it was announced today by the Authority of the Boro of Charleroi.

The Authority, which supplies water service to Monessen and neighboring communities, expects the tank to be in operation by next Spring.

It will be erected at a cost of nearly $40,000, it was said.

The tank, which will have a capacity of ¾ million gallons, will service customers from Marion Ave. to the Rostraver Twp. line. It will afford additional water supply for nearly 500 families in the area.

Charles Darby, manager of the Authority's Monessen branch office, said the tank will be erected by the Fisher Tank Co., of Chester.

Darby said other details, such as the location of a pumping station and laying of new lines, are still incomplete.

Britain Sending Troops to Crush Revolts by Rebels

LONDON (UP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd announced today Britain is sending "necessary forces" into the Middle East to help crush a revolt against the British-supported Sultan of Muscat and Oman.

Lloyd told Parliament that British warplanes already have attacked "military targets" in the area held by rebels in the Persian Gulf sultanate.

"These are limited operations," he said. "The necessary forces are local military commanders as they are required."

Lloyd said Britain is acting out of friendship for the sultan, who is battling "holy warriors" led by the Imam of Oman, rather than in fulfillment of any special guarantee.

"There is no specific treaty obligation that Britain should interfere in the internal affairs of Oman," he said.

"On the other hand, we have quoted more than one precedent have in the past acted at the invitation of a friendly ruler to help him preserve law and order in his domain.

He described Sultan Said Bin Taimur as "a firm friend of Britain . . . whose sovereignty is acknowledged."

Allenport USW Local Invites Investigation

Pittsburgh Steel Local 1187, United Steelworkers (AFL-CIO), of Allenport, yesterday sent a telegram to Sen. John McClellan, of Alabama, chairman of the Senate committee currently investigating labor unions, inviting "you and your committee to make any investigation of Local 1187 you may deem necessary."

The membership voted unanimously to send the telegram at a regular meeting held Tuesday. The telegram was sent at noon yesterday.

The telegram informed the committee that the members "are very proud of our accounts, funds, welfare fund and activities.

'Full Cooperation'

"Our officers extend to you and your committee an invitation to assure you full cooperation if you should choose to investigate Local 1187. We feel that our records and our accounts of our funds are equal to any organization or corporation in the country. We also intend to keep them this way."

The telegram carried the signature of John M. Puskas, Jr., recording secretary.

Copies were sent to David McDonald, USW president, and Eugene Maurice, USW District 13 director.

New Principal At Monongahela

W. Byron Holman, of California, is the new principal at Monongahela Junior High.

Holman was elected this week to succeed Herbert F. Cooley, who had earlier submitted his resignation.

Holman had been serving as acting principal in the California Community Joint School District.

The Monongahela Board of Education also elected George Watkinson as band director.

Watkinson, who formerly held that position before going to Mt. Lebanon several years ago, will succeed Paul B. McCandless, who has resigned to accept a similar position in Meadville.

Rostraver Dairy Farmers Hard Hit; Are Slowly Going Broke

(This is the first in a series of three articles reviewing the current unrest among district dairy farmers.)

By ALLEN KLINE

Dairy farmers in Rostraver Twp., like everywhere else in the state, are slowly going broke.

Everyone agrees to that: state economists, the Dairymen's Co-Operative Sales Association, the newly-formed dairymen's union and the farmers, themselves.

The big problem is what to do about it.

Troubled dairy farmers throughout the state are growing restless. Some have already gone out of business; others are on the verge of bankruptcy.

Even the more prosperous milk producers admit that they're beginning to hurt where it counts most — in the pocketbook.

One of the results of the dairy farmers dwindling income has been the formation of Local Union No. 733 an affiliate of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America, AFL-CIO.

This has been somewhat of a bombshell in traditionally conservative farming circles. The idea of a farmers union has stirred excitement throughout the state's farmlands. Some have described the new union as "absolutely illegal."

As yet, the union and DCSA, as the Dairymen's Co-Operative Sales Association is known, have not engaged in a public battle. Many of the members of the new union are also affiliated with DCSA.

But it's no secret that the two organizations are adversaries even though they agree that the dairy farmer is in bad shape. The struggle is already on between them.

Briefly, the new union claims that DCSA isn't really representing the farmer as he should be represented. As one union organizer phrases it: "DCSA has outlived its usefulness."

On the other hand, DCSA — organized almost a half century ago — contends that the problem is far more complex that the union would have its members suspect. DCSA recommends a more conservative approach.

Both "sides" recognize the dairy farmers plight. According to state economists, it costs the farmer $4.94 to produce 100 pounds of milk without making a cent of profit.

Last year, farmers in Westmoreland County averaged only $4.64 per hundred for their product. The Fayette County average was even lower: $4.44 per hundred, according to union statisticians.

DCSA does not dispute those

Gambler Owes $218,956 in Taxes, Judge Claims

WASHINGTON (UP)—A U.S. Tax Court judge ruled today that Pittsburgh gambler Cornelius W. Sullivan owes the government $218,956 in back income taxes for 1950.

Judge Eugene Black said a part of Sullivan's tax shortage for the year was due to "fraud with intent to evade tax." Sullivan claimed he made around $13,000 from his numbers and booking bets, crap-shooting, baseball, football and basketball wagers.

But Internal Revenue agents estimated his gross receipts from gambling for the year at more than $789,000 and that the amount he paid off on losses was about $562,000.

Sullivan's wide gambling activities were halted by raid by Pennsylvania state police on his home in 1951. Police found a number of receipts for gambling activities which were used in estimating his gambling income.

'Gas War' Cuts Six Cents Off Prices Here

A "gas war" today slashed six cents off the price of a gallon of gasoline at most Monessen service stations.

The price of motor gasoline is now 23.9 cents per gallon, compared to 29 9 cents just a day ago.

The tab on high-test gasoline has also been lowered from four to seven cents throughout the city, depending on the grade. The high-test price range is now from 27.9 to 31.9 cents.

Apparently the latest price war has the blessing of the major oil companies.

"We've been promised a rebate, plus a commission from our suppliers at the end of the month," according to one city service station proprietor.

Prior to the "gas war," service stations in the city had been averaging a profit of about four cents on every gallon of gasoline sold.

Reportedly, the major distributors have promised the city dealers about a two cent profit per gallon despite the reduced prices.

One service station proprietor here predicted that the "gas war" will spread through the district, pointing out that the oil companies "seem to be behind it."

Three Sheppard Jurors Favor Lie Test

Many Refuse to Discuss Any Recent Developments in Case

CLEVELAND (UP) — Three of twelve jurors whose judgment brought conviction and a life prison sentence to Dr. Sam Sheppard indicated today a lie detector test might provide workable answers to potential new developments in the sensational murder case.

Of the seven men and five women who sat through the gruelling nine-week trial at Cuyahoga County's lakeside courthouse in 1954, seven refused to discuss the current or past developments of the case. Two others since have left Cleveland.

The ten jurors were asked:

—Do you believe Sam Sheppard should be given a lie detector test?

—Do you believe, on the basis of recent developments, that the Sheppard case s h o u l d be reopened?

"I don't know the legal value of a lie detector test," explained juror No. 8, Mrs. Beatrice P. Orenstein, 39.

"I feel that if new evidence comes up, I'll be glad for his (Sheppard's) sake. I don't mean to imply that I think there is any new evidence. I have no doubt we did our jobs fairly. If something does come out it should be investigated. But I have a lot of confidence in (Cuyahoga County) Coroner Samuel Gerber. And if I can't trust him as a public official I don't know who else I could believe."

Jack Hansen, 39, juror No. 6, said: "We may have made a mistake, but I don't think so. Of course, I'm interested in any developments in the case and I feel any good clues should be investigated." Hansen said he was "certainly glad the higher courts upheld our verdict," adding "I still think he was guilty on the evidence presented us."

Plans to Launch Rocket from Balloon Platform

LOS ANGELES (UP) — Aeronutric Systems, Inc., today hoped to make "space history" in September when it will launch a rocket from a balloon platform over the Pacific Ocean in an attempt to establish a new altitude record "thousands of miles" above the earth.

The company, Ford Motor Company's West Coast subsidiary, announced Wednesday that it was preparing for the project which is sponsored by the Air Force Office of Scientific Research.

The launching will take place from the platform 20 miles above the ocean but the exact test site is "classified information."

It will mark the first time that a rocket will head into space from a balloon platform, although last month a dummy rocket was tested from a similar balloon platform.

Dr. Ernest H. Krause, vice president of Aeronutric, said the four-stage solid propellant rocket will travel at more than 17,000 miles an hour to a height never before achieved. He said the main purpose of the experiment is to investigate atmospheric and space phenomena at high altitudes.

The rocket designed to have an initial first stage thrust of 160,000 pounds will carry 3½ pounds of instruments to record scientiifc data.

figures. The cooperative agrees with the union that the d a i r y farmer must get more for his product merely to "break even."

In recent years, literally thousands of state dairy farmers have gone out of business. And that's not an easy decision to make.

Farmers have a great deal of money tied up in equipment, land and herds. Moreover they are by nature a gritty lot, hardened by depressions, droughts and disappointments. They don't q u i t easily.

(Tomorrow, the DCSA solution to the dairymen's plight will be outlined.

safe limits, as no engine crew is asking for sudden death in case of derailment," said Andrake.

The engineer also contended that it was impossible to go over 45 miles per hour because of a curve in the track at Vine St.

A runaway truck crashed into a freight train, derailing n i n e cars on Oct. 4, 1955, along Main St. The crash demolished several buildings in the center of town, resulting in five deaths, including the truck driver.

Seaway Project Half Completed

WASHINGTON (UP)—Construction on the U.S. stretch of the St. Lawrence Seaway was about 54 per cent completed at the end of June, it was reported today.

The St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corp. said almost 90 million dollars in contracts have been awarded so far for work on the U.S. seaway program.

State Parks in Campaign to Keep it Clean

District Forester V. M. Bearer, of Ligonier today asked picnickers to help keep state parks clean.

Bearer pointed out that increasing crowds and curtailed financial allotments are making it increasingly difficult "to maintain our Pennsylvania parks as we would like."

According to Bearer, there are eight state parks in the district: Fort Necessity, Braddock Monument, Lick Hollow, Keystone, Linn Run, Babcock, Kooser, and Mt. Davis.

"Come out and take advantage of these parks," said Bearer, "but please deposit rubbish in the trash cans provided."

Railway Express Seeks Increase

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Railway Express Agency has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission for a nationwide 15 per cent general increase in express rates.

The agency in a petition to the commission said Wednesday the proposed boost would apply to both cargo and smaller shipments with the exception of milk and cream, daily newspapers and human remains.

The agency told the commission that the 11 per cent hike authorized by the ICC last month for shipments in the East had failed to offset the agency's increasing annual deficit. It also noted that agency workers are slated to get a 7 cent an hour wage increase on Nov. 1.

In the past five years, the ICC has authorized express rate increases totaling 37 per cent.

Latrobe Workers Choose the UAW

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Employes of Kennametal, Inc., of Latrobe, Pa., have chosen the United Auto Workers Union as their bargaining agent, the Pittsburgh Office of the National Labor Relations Board announced today.

District 50, United Mine Workers, which had represented nearly 900 production workers since 1944, was ineligible to appear on the ballot, because it had not conformed to Taft-Hartley regulations.

The vote Wednesday was 529 for the UAW against 311 for "no union." The NLRB said 860 workers were eligible to vote.

District 50 waged a bitter strike against the carbide tool firm from Aug. 11 to Nov. 1, 1955.

Record Flight Is Called 'Routine'

DAYTON, Ohio (UP)—A Convair test pilot has termed his one hour 17 minute flight from Fort Worth, Tex., to Wright-Patterson Air Force Base as simply "routine."

B. A. Erickson, the pilot, made the statement Wednesday as he stepped from the B58 Hustler, the Air Force's newest faster-than-sound jet bomber.

The needle - nosed bomber's speed was not officially announced but Erickson was permittel to say he flew "faster than the speed of sound."

Living Costs to Stay Level; Expert Claims

WASHINGTON (UP) — A top government economist held out hope today that the cost of living will stop climbing next month for the first time in nearly a year.

Ewan Clague, commissioner of labor statistics, voiced the hope following his announcement that consumer prices for June had gone up ½ of 1 per cent to hit another all-time high — 120.2 per cent of average 1947-49 prices.

Clague predicted prices would rise slightly in July to stay on the elevator which has carried them up nearly 5 pef cent since March of last year.

He also said chances are good prices will decline in August and September. But he said he expects another rise in October and then a levelling-off — possibly a decline — in November and December.

Clague reasoned:

Higher food prices accounted for most of the increase in June and probably will do the same in July. But in August, local crops of fruits and vegetable coming to market are expected to reduce food costs, which amount to nearly 30 per cent of the average family's budget.

Summer sales of clothes and furniture at lower prices also should help drop living costs across the nation. Dealer discounts on unsold 1957 cars probably will get larger as the year runs out.

But Clague warned that prolonged drought in the East might drive up some food prices and upset his predictions.

by the defense and the jurors will be permitted to return to their nearby hotel for lunch before retiring to reach their verdicts.

Once the jurors get the case, he said, they will be obliged to finish their deliberations without interruption.

In his instructions Wednesday, the jurist praised the jurors, most of whom are retired workers and housewives, for the sacrifices they endured during their long confinement, and for the attention they gave to the trial during 41 days.

"This is an important case," he told the jury. "It is important to the Commonwealth—to the people of the Commonwealth. It is important to these defendants. So you have a grave duty."

The nine defendants face up to two years imprisonment and $500 fines upon conviction on a charge of conspiring to defraud the Turnpike Commission of eight million dollars.

In addition, two of the defendants, Charles W. Stickler Jr. and Clayton A. Landsidle, officers of the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading, named as the instrumentality in the alleged fraud, face five years imprisonment and a $5,000 fine on the charge of cheating by fraudulent pretenses.

New Regulations For Migratory Workers Ready

HARRISBURG (UP)—New regulations to safeguard the rights and working conditions of migratory workers will be put into effect soon, the state Labor and Industry Department announced.

Department Secretary William L. Batt Jr. said a draft of the regulations was drawn here Wednesday during a meeting of the Governor's Interdpartmental Committee on Migratory Labor. However, they will not be enforced until after public hearings have been held.

Batt said labor camps must be regulated so that persons working there were insured proper working and living conditions.

"We are determined that the small number of farmers using migratory labor, who wilfully violate these regulations be properly punished," Batt said.

The committee also named a sub-group to determine what should be done to make sure the children of migratory workers receive proper day care and educational opportunities. The subcommittee was scheduled to report back to the main body Aug. 10.

The department said about 10,000 migratory workers live in camps during the harvest season while another 30,000 Pennsylvania residents live at home but work on the crops.

Suits Filed in Vapor Explosion

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UP) — Damage suits seeking more than $27,000 were filed W e d n e s d a y against Esso Standard Oil Co., by the owner and tenants of a Bessemer Borough home destroyed by a gasoline vapor explosion last March 11.

Mary Juricich, owner of the two-story brick residence, asked $20,017. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Quear, tenants at the time of the blast, $7,937.

Miss Juricich and Mrs. Quear were injured in the blast which officials said was caused by vapor from the Wilbur Kursel Esso Service station located about 200 feet from the house.

Duquesne Youth Victim of River

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Edward Kudack, 14, Duquesne, Pa., drowned Wednesday night in the Monongahela river at nearby West Elizabeth.

Police said the victim and another youth were floating in the river atop a log when Kudack fell off and went under. His body was recovered about one half hour later. Artificial resperation was administered in a futile attempt to save him.

Research Firm Claims Cancer Agent Found

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Cleveland research firm claimed today it has discovered a cancer-producing agent in cigarettes—and a way to eliminate it.

At the same time, Prof. Harry S. N. Greene, head of the pathology department at Yale Medical School, pooh-poohed various medical reports indicating a relationship between smoking and lung cancer. He said such findings are based on statistical studies and that "statistics do not in themselves establish a causea nd effect relationship."

For example, Greene, said, by using statistics alone it might be possible to conclude that since bald-headed men frequently occupy the front row in burlesque houses, "the continued close observation of chorus girls in tights caused loss of hair from the top of the head."

However, Dr. S. Z. Cardon, a chemist for the Rand Development Corp. of Cleveland, said his firm found that a "known cancer-producing agent" called "3, 4 benzypyrene" occurred in condensed tars of smoke from cigarettes as well as cigarette paper and cigars.

Cardon and Greene made their statements in testiniony prepared for the House Government Operations Subcommittee investigating cigarette filters.

Cardon told the congressmen that 3, 4 benzypyrene was found more in smoke from the paper than the tobacco in cigarettes.

He said cigarettes can be treated with ammonium sulfamate to "reduce by a large factor or eliminate entirely" the benzypyrene.

10th Explosion Touched Off at Nevada Grounds

ATOP ANGELS' PEAK, Nev. (UP)—The Atomic Energy Commission touched off the 10th nuclear explosion of its 1957 summer test series at 6:30 a.m. p.d.t. today from a captive balloon anchored 500 feet above the Nevada Proving Grounds.

The blast was so bright it made the morning sun appear to dim by comparison. Its fireball lasted for approximately 10 seconds and the familiar mushroom pattern following the blast rose quickly.

Some 15 seconds after the blast the mushroom's top became obscured at about 20,000 feet by a driving cloud.

The mushroom rose above the cloud within two minutes and still was rising at the 30,000 foot level.

At this level it appeared to lean slightly eastward as it drifted slowly higher.

The explosion was seen by reporters at this unofficial vantage point some 8,900 feet above sea level. The test was closed to news media.

Owens, today's test name designation, was a design of the University of California Radiation Laboratory at Livermore, Calif. It had a yield estimated by the AEC at "below nominal," possibly equal to more than 10,000 tons of TNT.

Three County Men Held in Gang Beating

GREENSBURG, Pa. (UP) — Three Westmoreland County men were indicted Wednesday on charges growing out of the beating of Lawrence L. Harrold, 26, Grapeville, Pa., last July 7.

Indicted by a grand jury were John Lopez, Jeannette; Stanley White, Arona, and Joseph P. Hoak, Greensburg, all 18. They were charged with aggravated assault and battery. Hoak faced a second charge of malicious mischief.

The defendants were released on $1,500 bond each. Four juveniles, also implicated in the beating, were turned over to juvenile authorities.

The attack occurred at the home of Robert A. Tobias, Harrold's father-in-law. Harrold was hospitalized for three days.

Surviving are his wife, M r s. Elizabeth Pastrick; seven sons, Michael and J o s e p h, both of Elizabeth, N. J.; George and Albert, both of Duquesne, J o h n, of West Mifflin; Anthony, at home and Cyril, of Concord, Calif.; two daughters, Mrs. Ann Kerestan, of Monessen and Mary Pastrick, at home; 11 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery, Duquesne.

QUITE A FEET — Army doctor Paul Jensen examines one of the service's headaches, size 16 feet of Pfc. John Ano, at Letterman General hospital, San Francisco. Ano, from Trenton, N. J., wore out all the special shoes he brought along (the draft got him in August 1956) and has been reduced to wearing sandals. He hopes they'll either get him some shoes that don't hurt or let him go back to his old job in a Trenton shoe factory.

Mayor, Motorist in Exchange of Gunfire

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (UP) — Huntington Mayor Eugene Willis exchanged gunfire with another motorist late Wednesday night in a followup of telephoned threats on his life.

Willis said he was approaching his home while driving along Woodland Drive when a car coming in the opposite direction reduced speed as the cars passed and someone fired a shot. Willis said the bullet passed through one of his car's windows, barely missing him.

The mayor, who obtained a permit to carry a pistol after receiving anonymous threats earlier this week, said he drew his revolver and fired at the car as it sped away. He said he did not know whether he scored any hits.

Police said they had been unable to determine why anyone might want to kill Willis. The mayor said one of the threats he received referred to a recent trial, but police said they doubted it had anything to do with the trial of Elmer David Bruner here last month.

Bruner was convicted of first degree murder for the slaying of a Huntington woman two months ago. Before and during the course of the trial, Judge John W. Daniel and Prosecutor Russell L. Daugherty reported receiving threats. Daugherty obtained a permit to carry a pistol as a result.

Willis said he was unable to get a good view of the car from which the shot was fired at him last night. He said he doubted that he could identify the vehicle or the

Democrats Plan Drive to Get Registration Up

HARRISBURG (UP) — Democratic State Chairman Joseph M. Barr announced today Commonwealth Secretary James A. Finnegan will head the committee's 1957 registration drive.

Barr said the Democrats had steadily reduced the Republican registration lead in Pennsylvania and felt they could "whittle it away to almost nothing" this year.

He pointed out there were no statewide offices to fill and many counties were without important election contests, but added the Democrats hoped to build solid majorities everywhere.

"Before the spring primary, Republican registrations in Pennsylvania totaled 2,780,990, a lead of 380,590 over the Democratic total of 2,400,410," Barr said. "This contrasts sharply with figures in 1954 when Republicans had a registration of 2,995,971 and Democrats a total of 2,088,837, or a Republican majority of 907,124."

Finnegan, who also headed the 1954 and 1955 registration campaigns, said he planned to visit county leaders during the next few weeks to look over their registration plans and work out a concerted drive.

Skelton Family Squabble

BARCELONA, Spain (UP) — Comedian Red Skelton was reported today to have patched up the squabble with his red-haired wife which cut short the European tour they were making for their leukemia-stricken son.

Skelton left Rome in a huff Wednesday night with his wife, Gloria, their daughter, Valentina, 10, and their 9-year-old son, Richard, who is suffering from leukemia. But they left their New York-bound plane in Barcelona and checked into a hotel.

They refused to see newsmen, but members of the hotel staff said Skelton told them he planned to stay here two days then go on to Paris, London and Dublin.

There was no immediate indication the Skelton's visit to Spain was connected with the offer made by a world-famous Spanish doctor to examine Richard and see if a cure is possible.

United Press correspondent Larry Collins was present when the family squabble began in Rome.

Skelton wanted to make the rest of the European trip in the blue bus he had bought for $2,400.

Mrs. Skelton was afraid of his driving on the twisting, narrow European roads and living off the beaten track in a foreign country.

When Skelton couldn't find the legal papers for the bus he broke into a rage. After a long argument with his wife over who had them last, he exploded.

"That's it," he said. "I'm through. I've had it. We're going home tonight. I'm sick of everyone fouling things up on this trip. We're going back."

Richard said in the car going to the airport, "Gee, I wish we weren't going back, but that's the way it goes."

Airman Who Refused to Get Haircut Is Freed

Won't Give in To Any Other Similar Orders

TOKYO (UP)—The Air Force freed Donald Wheeler from prison today and the defiant young airman said he would risk another prison sentence rather than give in to orders to get a white sidewall haircut.

Col. Charles W. Johnstone, commander of the 6000th Support Wing at the U.S. Fuchu Air Base, ordered Wheeler released from jail because of "errors" and "irregularities" in his all-officer court-martial.

Wheeler was convicted Monday of disobeying orders and was sentenced to four months imprisonment at hard labor, fined $200 and reduced in rank. The jail doors opened for him today and he was rushed to Tokyo to complete the formalities of freedom.

"I am very happy it is all over with and very happy to get through with it," he told newsmen in Tokyo. Then he said he didn't believe he would ever get a haircut order again.

"I would refuse to get a white sidewall haircut if I was ordered again to get one," he said.

He said he would challenge the order because he believes now as he believed then that it is an "illegal" order.

Johnstone called in newspaper men at Fuchu and read the following statement which restored Wheeler his freedom:

I have reviewed the court-martial case of Airman Donald Wheeler and have found certain cumulative errors and procedural irregularities in the trial. For these reasons, I have this date disapproved the findings and sentence of the court."

Johnstone said that normally under such circumstances a new trial would be ordered But he said he had talked with the young airman and I am convinced that he has undergone a considerable change of attitude."

In view of this," Johnstone said, I do not consider that further trial would serve the cause of justice, the interest of the Air Force or the individual I have therefore ordered Airman Wheeler released from confinement and returned to duty."

U. S. Steel to Build Mills at Duquesne Works

PITTSBURGH (UP) — U. S Steel Corp. announced today it will construct three modern, high speed rolling mills at its Duquesne Works to replace present facilities for production of billets, blooms and slabs.

Harvey B. Jordan, executive vice president operations, said work will begin immediately on engineering details for the new mills with completion scheduled within two years.

The new facilities will consist of three rolling units, a 46-inch high lift slabbing - blooming mill, a 36-inch blooming mill, and a four-stand continuous 21-inch billet mill consisting of two vertical and two horizontal stands.

The project also calls for installation of seven banks of soaking pts; a new stripper building and a new shipping building. The rolling mills will be in a new plant building between the Monongahela River and the present bar mills at Duquesne. The building will be 2,392 feet long and 90 feet wide.

The new rolling mills will be fully automatic, each having its own shears and mill outlets, including facilities to handle the finished product. Jordan said that with advanced methods of transporting mill products, chances of accidents will be cut and maintenance held to a minimum.

Following the completion of the new facilities, the present 40-inch mill, the 38-inch mill and the eight-stand 14-inch mill will be dismantled. This will take a year.

Railroads Ask U. S. For Expansion Help

WASHINGTON (UP) — Eastern railroads have asked the government today to help them modernize and expand by buying new railway equipment and then leasing it to them.

James M. Symes, president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, put the plan before the House Commerce Committee Wednesday after discussing it at a news conference. He acted as spokesman for 34 Eastern rail companies.

Symes said railroads simply cannot raise the money for all the new passenger and freight cars and locomotives they need.

He urged the government to create a new reservoir of capital" by establishing a federal agency to take over financing and ownership of new equipment He said the agency should be given 500 million dollars in cash with authority to borrow an additional two billion dollars.

The railroads would pay back money spent by the government, plus one-quarter of one per cent interest.

Symes told newsmen the railroads should be spending $1,200,000,000 a year for new equipment. But he said they spent an average of only 400 million dollars a year over the past five years because of lack of capital.

"Private enterprise can't possibly raise the amount of money we need," Symes said.

He said he did not believe that federal ownership of possibly $2,500,000,000 worth of railroad equipment would be a "first step" in complete federal ownership of the roads.

"We do not fear any government interference if we have the proper equipment," Symes said. "But if we have a major breakdown in operations through lack of equipment, then the government might step in."

Symes said he would be agreeable to the government providing equipment in the same manner for the airlines and the trucking industry "provided there is a full pay - back plus interest by the users."

Stassen Turns Other Cheek To Bulganin

LONDON (UP)—Harold E. Stassen turns his other cheek today to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's chilling slap at disarmament hopes and offers to abandon the intercontinental missile as a weapon if Russia will too.

The U.S. delegate planned to introduce the formal proposal for the control of the "ultimate weapon" at this afternoon's meeting of the U.N. dsiarmament subcommittee.

The Western powers agreed to go ahead and submit the plan in spite of the harsh words used by Bulganin in a message to Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain.

The Soviet premier charged in the letter made public Wednesday night that the West was using the London disarmament conference to help West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer retain control in the Sept. 15 elections.

Restful Term Ahead

BALTIMORE (UP) — Harry Legourd, 57, walked into police court today and asked for a jail term because he was "just plumb beat." Legourd told the court he had looked unsuccessfully for a job for several months and wanted a place to recuperate from his efforts. Magistrate Standley Richardson obliged with a three-month sentence.

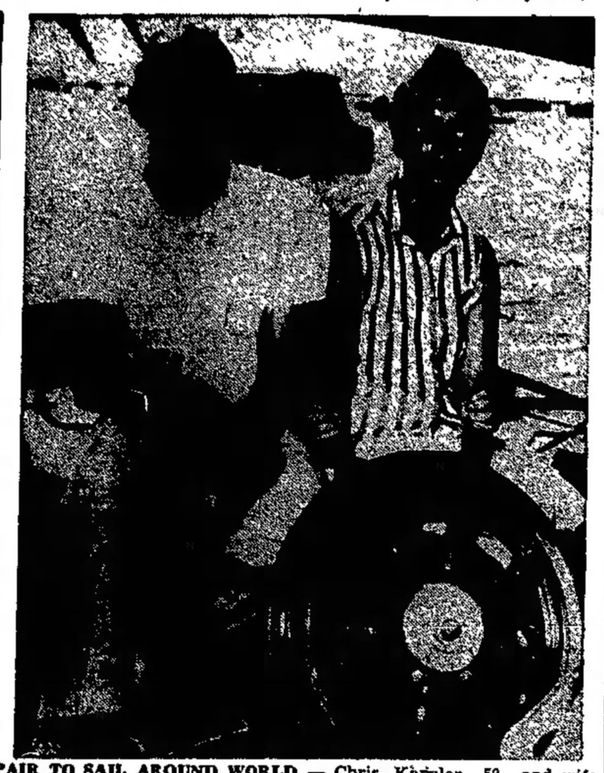
Kenneth Gibson Chancellor of Pythian Lodge

Kenneth Gibson was installed as chancellor commander of Monessen Lodge 168, Knights of Pythias, last night at the Pythian Hall.

Jess Stofford, retiring chancellor commander, was installed as vice chancellor. Others assuming office were Joseph Stagi, prelate; Louis Laneve, master of work; Eugene Laneve, master of arms; Joseph Voye, inside guard; Mike Joseph, outside guard; Don Harper, secretary; John Poprosky treasurer and J. Earl Husher, financial secretary.

These men will serve a six month term. Standing committees were also appointed.

A report was given on a recent trip to Pittsburgh to attend a Pirate baseball game, and plans were made to attend another game on Aug. 27. The men will also attend the Jaycee football game in Pittsburgh on Aug. 13.



PAIR TO SAIL AROUND WORLD — Chris Kappler, 50, and wife Grace, 39, are shown in Chicago aboard the 45-foot schooner in which they will embark on a leisurely trip around and about the world, say two or three years. The South Haven, Mich., couple has been dreaming of this for a decade. They aren't sailors, but they did do some practicing in Lake Michigan, and studied navigation a bit.

Steel Records Expected to Fall As Big Companies File Reports

NEW YORK (UP)—Wall Street expects some old records to topple when the two largest steel companies in the world report on operations for the first half of 1957.

Bethlehem Steel Corp., the second biggest, releases its figures today. U.S. Steel Corp., which produces about one out of every three tons of steel in the nation, reports on Tuesday.

In the first quarter this year Bethlehem reported record sales for any quarter and higher net income than a year ago. Big Steel reported new peaks in both sales and earnings.

The second quarter of both companies probably trailed the first quarter as they felt the effects of lagging demand from auto and appliance manufacturers and inventory cutting, steelmen say.

Industry operations in the second quarter were at 87 per cent of capacity, against the first quarter's 96 per cent. So far in July operations have run at the lowest level—except for strike periods—since January, 1955.

However, Bethlehem Chairman Eugene G. Grace told reporters in April his company was "sitting pretty" and would operate substantially at capacity for all of 1957. In the first quarter Bethlehem furnaces operated at a fiery 103.8 per cent of capacity.

Roger M. Blough, chairman of U.S. Steel, said his company would operate at about 90 per cent of capacity in the second quarter after producing at an average of 95.7 per cent in the first quarter.

The American Iron & Steel Institute reported that industry production in the first half of 1957 tapered off in later months but still was the second highest on record for a similar period.

How have steel companies made out that have already reported for the first half?

Republic Steel Corp. and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.—third and fifth largest respectively—reported record sales and earnings for the first half. Republic's sales and earnings in the June quarter trailed both the March quarter and the similar year ago quarter. Youngstown's June quarter earnings fell below a year ago but were higher than the March quarter. June quarter sales were below both periods, however.

Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., the fourth largest producer, reported record sales but lower earnings in the first half. Second quarter earnings dropped below a year ago but were ahead of the first quarter. June quarter sales topped both periods.

About the outlook? Steelmen believe the worst is over. They look for an upsurge in auto demand, a reversal of the inventory-cutting spree, strong demand for plates, structurals and oil country goods and a stronger export market.

The authoritative trade magazine Iron Age said recently it thinks steel production for the full year will approximate the 117 million ton peak of 1955.

Both Sides Need Peace in Algeria

IT IS IRONICAL that France, whose distaste for war resulted in premature capitulation to the nazis in 1940, should be the one nation in the world which has been almost continuously at war ever since.

French North Africa became a war theater; the French underground fought its own guerilla war; the Normandy invasion came through France. After victory in Europe France was bled white by the war in Indo-China. And even before that was resolved in 1955, the Algerian rebels started a full scale offensive.

Surely if France is to recover from the military, economic, governmental and moral debility that has made her the modern "sick man of Europe", she will need a convalescent period of peace. She is getting out of Vietnam. She has recently ratified the European Union agreements which may assure permanent peace with non-communist Germany. Only the Algerian war, the most complex problem of all, remains to be liquidated.

Now, for the first time, there is news that a French official has been in contact with leaders of the Algerian Liberation Front, and a basis for negotiation may have been found.

The talks had to be secret. Both sides have made flaming, intransigent statements. Hence neither could admit publicly at this stage that it might settle for less. But privately that is just about what they have admitted.

It is reported that Liberation Front leaders have been having second thoughts about a number of things. They realize how dependent Algeria will be on France for a long time to come. Without much material and technical assistance from France and the cooperation of the million-odd French colonists who live in Algeria, a fully independent Algeria might disintegrate into chaos.

If negotiations can be arranged, it appears as if they might succeed. Moderates on both sides, if they can find a way to agree, may be able to by-pass their extremists. This seems the only hope for the peace which both sides need desperately.

Victory for Reason

SEVEN RACIAL segregationists have been convicted of criminal contempt by a jury of white Southerners in a Federal District Court at Knoxville, Tennessee. In this many of us see a triumph of reason and a wholesome indication that sincere American people, even in an emotional and strife-torn atmosphere can think and act rationally.

The conviction grew out of acts of violence at Clinton, Tennessee, where a hostile crowd attempted to interfere with an injunction enforcing integration in the high school. On a holiday week-end there rioting had to be quelled by 600 National Guard troops, and most of the nation stood ashamed that such bitterness and outrage could consume the neighbors of a little American community.

The evidence against many of the segregationists seemed almost obvious. One of the defendants, a self-styled partisan of prejudice, has described himself as "a rabble-rouser and a trouble-maker". Last fall he traveled through Southern and border states fanning old racial hatreds and leaving trouble in his wake.

The decision in the district court simply reaffirms what all of us know: the law is for all to obey. We simply cannot have a society in which each of us observes the law if it suits and ignores or obstructs the law when it doesn't suit.

What is most reassuring is that such a decision could come from a Southern court, from a jury drawn among those most subject to appeals against reason. The decision is a good strong pace down the long road toward wisdom and discernment in these things.

Whose Beauty?

THAT MRS. who wanted to be Miss Universe turned out just to be the world's prettiest liar. One professional bally-hoo man exclaimed over the fact that although she lost the title she had won a million dollars worth of publicity. All of it bad, it might be added.

Not everyone agrees with us, because we read that they are bidding up to a thousand dollars an appearance for her. By some theatrical standards, presumably, she may have made a mark by parlaying a hoax into a juicy contract. The young lady will obviously have to re-write the code she has been living by — that all is fair in love and beauty contests.

We have never been able to see this beauty contest business in the right light anyway. A girl is made queen for a day on the basis of having some of her features pleasingly put in some accepted order. What we can't see is what the girl had to do with this and why she should have the world put at her feet.

If there are any blue ribbons to be dispensed they should go to mother, for her choice of father, who made this phenomenon possible.

Merry-Go-Round—

Says Generals Act Too Much Like Generals

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — When President Eisenhower appoints military men to high office he seems to have a propensity for appointing the wrong man to the wrong place at the wrong time.

Mr. Pearson

His first military appointee, West Point classmate, Gen. Joseph Swing as Commissioner of Immigration, became famous for using government automobiles to go hunting in Mexico, using his personal, privileged position to secure a Mexican maid at low wages, and using government airplanes for political purposes.

On top of this, Gen. Herbert D. Vogel, appointed to be Chairman of the Tennessee Valley Authority, has proved himself a prima donna reminiscent of the days when Washington fought over the question of whether Dolly Gann, half-sister of the Vice President, should be seated at dinner ahead of Alice Roosevelt Longsworth, wife of the Speaker.

Invited to attend a dinner by the Junior Order of Mechanics honoring AFL-CIO president George Meany last month, General Vogel refused to go into the dinner because he wasn't seated at the head table.

General Vogel found himself seated with a group of distinguished industrialists and labor leaders, but this did not please him. He actually threatened to leave.

Finally, it was learned that Congressman Howard Baker of Tennessee would not be able to attend because of a death in his family, and to keep the peace, General Vogel was waltzed up to the speaker's table to take Baker's place.

More TVA Trouble

Again, the General was invited to a meeting of the Delta Council in Cleveland, Miss. Speakers at the meeting were Harvey Firestone, head of the well-known rubber company of that name, and Chief of Army Engineers Maj. Gen. E. C. Itschner.

Once again, when Vogel was not invited to sit at the speaker's rostrum, he refused to attend the meeting.

General Vogel milled around outside, showing his disgust for the activities, then drove back to Knoxville.

On another occasion, President Diem of the friendly country of Viet-nam, was visiting the Tennessee valley. General Vogel conducted President Diem on the tour, but, returning back to Knoxville, the General switched the motorcade through residential Knoxville so he could stop off at his home. The General got off, left the motorcade, sent the President on to his hotel.

It is strict protocol that a foreign visitor be delivered to his destination before the American host leaves the entourage. State Department officials were red-faced, but found it impossible to give orders to the grandstanding General whom Ike appointed head of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Note — Eisenhower now faces trouble with another appointee to the TVA — Arnold R. Jones. Senators probing Jones's background have found that he accepted fees as a lawyer while supposedly serving the people of Kansas on the State Corporation Commission. Since Eisenhower has appointed more conflict-of-interest officials than any other president, it's a safe bet the Senators will take a long look at Commissioner Jones before they confirm him.

Washington Whispers

Edward Bennett Williams, who scored Washington's No. 1 legal victory in defending teamsters strongman Jimmy Hoffa, slipped over to Teamsters Union headquarters during the trial to confer with a squad of lawyers. . . . They urged him to take a Negro attorney with him into the court to influence the eight Negro jury members. This was to offset the government which had a Negro attorney sitting at the lawyers' table. . . . Instead, it was arranged for ex-heavyweight champ Joe Louis to visit the courtroom and make a show of his friendship for Hoffa. . . . FBI boss J. Edgar Hoover was furious over Hoffa's acquittal. This makes the third big headline case the FBI has developed which was lost. Others were Judith Coplon, who allegedly spied for Russia; Johnny Dio, who allegedly ordered the acid-blinding of columnist Victor Riesel; and now Jimmy Hoffa, who allegedly bribed a Senate rackets investigator. . . . Sen. Bill Knowland was about to yield to southern arguments and kill most of part 3 of the civil rights bill, when he got a call from Negro leaders. They had been to see Vice President Nixon, who stood pat for a strong bill and no compromise on part 3. Knowland and Nixon are political rivals. The greatest goal in American public life — the White House — is before their eyes. Learning of Nixon's stand, Knowland changed his mind, stood pat for a strong Part 3 . . . Competition applies to politics as well as business.

Muddy Boots

From Washington—

What's Ahead in Congress

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

Here is the way the remainder of the present session of Congress now looks

1 — The debate on the civil rights bill will continue for at least another two weeks and the insiders are hopefully setting the week of Aug. 5 for the final Senate vote.

Mr. Drummond

2 — The passage of a meaningful right-to-vote law, which may also give the Federal government a limited role in protecting other civil rights, now is taken for granted by both sides. While liberal Northern Democratic votes are essential, the real tip-off came when there was not a single Republican "nay" to the motion bringing the bill to the floor of the Senate.

3 — Congress can be expected to continue in session for about two weeks after final actions on civil rights. The target for adjournment is Aug. 20, but a week later would be more realistic.

4 — It won't take Congress long to fold up after the civil rights issue is settled. Reason No controversial legislation — nothing requiring debate — will be acted upon. The appropriation bills will be completed quickly. The Niagara power development might be authorized; nothing more. All eyes will be on the clock and transportation schedules home.

Lost In Shuffle

This means that Federal aid to school construction, minimum wage extension, Taft-Hartley law revision, statehood for Hawaii and Alaska, O.T.C. (Organization for Trade Co-Operation) membership, even higher postal rates will be lost in the shuffle, neither defeated nor approved.

At this stage it seems clear that the lines of the Senate advocate of the civil rights bill are holding firm; if anything, they are hardening, not weakening.

Their primary and over-riding object is to enable the Federal government to protect the most civil right of all — the foundation on which other rights can best be advanced — the right of all citizens to vote on equal terms as prescribed in the Constitution.

The intention is to stand against any changes which would dilute the heart of the bill and this includes all efforts to write in jury trial for officials violating court injunctions on voting rights.

The supporters of the bill are, I am informed, ready to fight to the end, to fight a losing battle, if necessary, on this issue. They don't believe they will lose. They are pretty sure they have the votes to win, but they are saying privately that they would rather have no bill than to have a right-to-vote bill with built-in escape clauses, which a year from now could turn out to be a no-right-to-vote bill.

This is the center of the civil rights measure which its advocates, led by the Knowland-Humphrey coalition of Republicans and non-Southern Democrats, feel confident they can pass: A clear Federal guarantee, backed up by civil enforcement in the courts, that no citizen shall be deprived of his right to vote.

They are prepared to exclude any reference to troops. The use of force was never intended to be a part of this legislation.

They are prepared to leave wholly outside the bill the issue of implementing the Supreme Court's decision of public school integration — with one exception. They want the Federal government to have the right to intervene when its assistance is specifically sought by a local or state official.

The prospective passage of the civil rights bill is helping to prove one point which Senate insiders have always argued was true. That it was not the strength of the filibuster, but the weakness of past majorities which brought about the defeat of earlier measures.

Through filibuster a strong-minded, determined minority can always defeat a weak-willed, lip-service majority.

But not today. The majority means it this time. They feel they have waited long enough.

This Miss Is Teaching An Orangutan to Swim

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP) —Teach an orangutan how to swim? "Certainly," said pretty Ruth Manecke. "If we do, he will be the only one naturalists know of who has learned."

Miss Manecke, who lives in a happy world peopled with animals, is giving swimming lessons to a red-haired orangutan named Bobo. Bobo, who is three years old and weighs 40 pounds, has advanced to the rubber raft-and-paddle-himself stage, she said. Next step will be putting him into the pool with life preserver on.

Gay Pauley

Miss Manecke, 28, explained that gorillas, orangutans and chimpanzees, unlike most other animals, don't swim instinctively. If put in water too deep for wading, they just go down and stay.

Couple Owns Zoo

The experiment is taking place at New Rochelle, N. Y., home of Miss Manecke and her husband, Douglas L. Gruber, a former advertising man. The couple owns a private zoo, equipped with everything from cats to kinkajous.

If you've watched Captain Kangaroo on television, you probably have seen some of the Gruber menagerie. Their Alltame Animals Agency, with offices in Manhattan and a zoo at suburban Hastings-On-Hudson, supplies television shows, plus fashion and advertising photographers.

"The animals are tame, but not trained to do tricks," said Miss Manecke, who uses her maiden name in business. "Most of them we've reared ourselves. But we will round up talent we don't own, on call." The couple has supplied kangaroos, llamas, parrots, sea lions, mynah birds, and even cheetahs.

Animal Wages Good

Animal wages are pretty good, but the rate depends on the rarity of the animal and the hours it works. Some top talent earns $100 an hour, she said.

Miss Manecke said they acquired "Bobo" from an animal dealer, who decided the orangutan was dying. "He was just a few weeks old and had wasted away to four pounds," she said. "My father — he's a surgeon at Brooklyn Hospital—helped me feed him intravenously for several days before we could even get him on a bottle."

Now his diet is bottle plus baby food—fruits and vegetables. He has the run of the Gruber household.

Behind The News—

Tunisia 'Strong Man' Ready To Take Over

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Premier Habib Bourguiba is getting ready to set himself up as the "strong man" of Tunisia in Northwest Africa.

It looks as if he intends to throw Bey Sidi Mohammed Al-Amin off the throne today and proclaim a republic.

Apparently the only way Mohammed can avoid being ousted forcibly is to beat Bourguiba to it by abdicating.

Bourguiba became the head man in Tunisia after his country, long a French protectorate, attained its independence on March 20, 1955.

Ever since he became premier, he has been building up his personal authority.

By Virtually Prisoner

For a long time the 75-year-old Bey, nominally Tunisia's ruler, has been virtually a prisoner in his palace near Tunis, fiddling with his self-make clocks and his do-it-yourself cabinet-making tools.

Bourguiba decided last week that the time had come to make his supreme leadership official.

He announced in his weekly radio broadcast that the government was going to "take measures" against members of the royal family who had used their positions to enrich themselves.

This was followed by a direct attack on the Bey in semi-official newspapers and other organs of propaganda.

Bourguiba called a meeting of the national assembly, the Parliament, for today.

Dispatches say the assembly probalby will vote to abolish the monarchy.

New Republic Seen

The formal proclamation of a republic is expected to follow, with Bourguiba as president with strong executive powers.

Neither Morocco, the westernmost of the three units of French North Africa, nor Egypt welcomes this prospect.

Moroco, now independent like Tunisia, is a monarchy. Sultan Siki Mohammed Ben - Youssef is afraid that his own people might get ideas if Tunisia became a republic.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt is a strong man himself. He would like to be the big man in all of North Africa and the Arab world in general. He does not want any rivals for the strong man role.

The Lighter Side—

Actor in Ladies' Slacks

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP) —Robert J. Evans gets to work at 8 a.m. in an office 33 stores above his native New York and doesn't leave until 7 p.m. He eats lunch in the office, while barking orders into a squawk box on his fancy semi-circular desk.

He's in love with his business. He's in ladies' slacks, and the women's slack business is anything but slack.

"I started seven years ago with one pair of slacks," he said. "Now the business is several million a year. (Dollars, he means.) We claim to be the largest better-slack firm in America."

Whither slacks? "Becoming more tapered—but not skin-tight," Evans says. "Just a sleek, tapered type so all women can wear them."

Emphasis On Casual Wear

The big impetus for slacks, he says, has been the movement toward suburban living, with emphasis on casual attire.

Evans, at 27, is in a skirts manufacturing firm as vice president in charge of its subsidiary which makes slacks, shorts, and active sportswear. A pertinent question right now is—whither Evans?

"Every buyer who comes in wants to know the whole story," he says. "They ask me: 'You gonna stay in business?' I can't answer. Right now, if I had to make a choice between movies and skirts, I'd choose skirts. I feel more secure here, where I can make decisions, have control over myself."

During the last half year, Evans has been leading a divided life. Part slacks, part movie actor. Hollywood drafted him entirely by accident, he says. There he was, last November, at the pool of the Beverly Hills Hotel, barking business about slacks into a poolside telephone. Norma Shearer watched him project and decided he closely resembled her late husband, Irving Thalberg, who was a movie executive at age 21.

Takes Screen Test

"I told her I had little interest in being a movie actor, that I was in business in New York," he says. "But she persuaded me to come for a screen test, and I think the movie bosses there sort of resented it—a dress man coming to play in a picture."

Evans as a youngster had been in radio plays. He tested out fine and played Thalbert in the Lon Chaney life story, "The Man With A Thousand Faces." Not long afterward Darryl Zanuck saw him in a New York nightclub and picked him for a starring role as a matador in "Death in the Afternoon."

Both pictures will open in New York next month. Evans doesn't know what the garment industry will think of him then.

ON THE BALL

By CLAIR BROWN

Top Team, Manager in BV Loop

Top candidates for "manager of the year" and "team of the year" honors in the Belle Vernon Lions League would have to be the entry which played under the "Grocers" banner this season. Piloted by Larry Rankin, promising Bellmar High athlete and former Vernon Junior High standout for Kenny Clark, the Grocers roared through 14 games without a loss to take the Midget Division title in the Lions Loop. Playing a major part in the posting of such an impressive mark were Sammy Cover, first baseman, who hit near .560, ranking third in the league, pitcher Ray Tisot, a second year player who has two no-hitters and two one-hitters to his credit, Allan Senko, catcher, a nephew of Jim Trenk, former MVL star for Van Voorhis, who batted cleanup and hit .400. (Editor's Note: The Grocers also topped the league All-Stars yesterday, 7-4.)

Although a heavy hitting team the Grocers, ironically, had no home-run sluggers. The same boys have been together for three years, having finished second in 1955 when they were beaten in the playoffs and copping the Intermediate crown in 1956 as the "Hawks." Manager Rankin plays for the Belle Vernon entry in the Mon-Yough Prep League. He also has athletic experience as a Jayvee basketball player at Bellmar, a member of the football and baseball squads at BHS. Other members of the "champs" squad include, John Catrino, Richard Guiliano, Thomas Antal, Lee Wallace, Jimmy McClain, Thomas Runfola, Billy Cole, and batboy Rudy Houseman. Making the Grocers' feat all the more remarkable is the fact that they had only 10 players on the roster.

Meets Ex-Monessen Sports Figure

Sam Essey, former sandlot baseball player here, recently returned from a vacation tour through the southern states, shooting up through Ohio on the return trip. While passing through Cambridge, Ohio, Sam ran into "Brute" Kramer, who formerly pounded a typewriter at this desk. Brute is now operating an outdoor golfing range in the off-season when he is not announcing games as a member of the Harlem Globetrotters troupe. Sam reports that there is now a "Little Brute," aged 3 months. The former local sports scribe and St. Vincent College publicity director, who has a host of friends in the valley, asked to be remembered to his old Monessen buddies, mayor Hugo Parente, Dan DeRocca, "Bub" Brautigan, John Molnar, Larry Doyle, and all the others.

Penn State's Milt Plum stands a good chance of being the Cleveland Browns' starting quarterback this coming season, succeeding "Outstanding Otto" (last name unnecessary, we're sure . . . Red Grange Defends Pro Grid's System

By TOM NELSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — Harold (Red) Grange, one of football's all-time greats, praised the current set-up in professional football today as "the best system that's been worked out yet."

Grange and four other gridiron giants were called by a House antitrust subcommittee to testify on workings of the National Football League.

Two present - day players — Chuck Bednarik of the Philadelphia Eagles and Jack Jennings of the Chicago Cardinals — were to testify first. Then the subcommittee planned to hear from Grange, ex-Chicago Bears quarterback Sid Luckman and former Bear lineman George Connor.

Grange told reporters he finds nothing to criticize about the operations of the NFL nowadays. He said the players, as a whole, get a better salary deal than in his day.

Grange was asked what he thought about football's reserve clause, A player signs a one-year contract with a team which then has an option to sign him up a second year.

"In all my years in professional football I've never heard a player complain about it," Grange said.

The subcommittee is studying bills which would ease the effects of a Supreme Court decision last Feb. 25 placing pro football under the anti-trust laws.

Wednesday, NFL Commissioner Bert Bell gave figures which showed that of the 12 NFL teams ony the Chicago Cardinals have suffered an overall net loss over the past five seasons. The Cards dropped $798,524.

The NFL's richest team was the Detroit Lions who had a net profit after taxes of $622,055 from 1952 through 1956.

Softball Umps' To Meet Here Tonight

An important meeting of the Monessen Softball Umpires Association has been set for tonight at the Club 20, beginning at 8:15 o'clock. This is a regular monthly meeting and many important matters are on the agenda.

Ozarks Surprise Fayette City, 4-3

Cro-Ams Win 'Fast One', 3-1

Thanks to brilliant hurling by the Cro-Ams' Steve Rockovich and "Slick" Shilling of the ULBA entry, only one hour was required to complete the game in the local City Softball League last night which went to first-place Cro-Ams by a 3-1 count.

Rockovich, who posted the win gave up only five hits, failed to issue a walk and registered 10 strikeouts. Shilling fanned three and walked only one in allowing just four hits, but two of them doubles.

Back-to-Back Doubles

The Cro-Ams tallied first with two runs in the third on back-to-back doubles by Pete Prezgar and Tony Crisi coupled with a steal of home by Crisi, who had advanced to third on a fielder's choice.

Shilling aided his own cause with a homer in the fourth to account for the only ULBA run.

Tony Saflin singled and came all the way around on a ULBA miscue for the final Cro-Am marker.

Tonight's action finds ULBA battling Ravens while Friday night Italian Hall battled Myfords.

The game will be played on Friday, Aug. 2, at 6 o'clock. The team will be announced later.

The MPSA and PNA organizations forfeited their respective selections to the All-Star team by failing to attend the meeting. They were also fined for failure to attend.

A protest was upheld in favor of Italian Hall in their game against ULBA played earlier in the season. The game will be replayed from the point of infraction, the fifth inning. It will be played as part of a doubleheader when the two teams meet again the final round of action.

Both Dacko teams dropped matches in Tuesday Niter League Bowling action last night.

The Ann Dacko entry lost to Betty Kunsa's entry, two games to one while the Julia Carcellas defeated Julia Dacko's squad by the same count.

Betty Kunsa with a 132 single game high and a 367 three-game total, followed by Ann Dacko with a 130-316, Elaine Albert with 109-247, and Betty Gladys with a 137-306 were the top scorers.

Standings now show J. Carcella with 16-11, B. Kunsa with 15-12, A. Dacko 14-13 and J. Dacko with 9-18.

Buck Henry, Charleroi, and Ray Schaffer, Sharpsburg, will make their professional debut in a six-round welterweight match.

Mitnick, Crawley Pace First Win Over Loop-leaders

Bill Mitnick's strong arm and Carl Crawley's big bat supplied a one-two punch which kayoed Fayette City for the first time this season for the Monessen Ozarks, 4-3.

The victory kept the Ozarks apace of New Eagle in fifth place and close to Donora for that fourth place playoff slot.

Crawley Homers, Triples

Crawley clouted a homer, and a triple and scored the winning run while Mitnick was besting Don Young, Fayette City ace, who suffered his first loss. Young fanned 10 and walked three while Mitnick was striking out six and walking only one batter but Mitnick keet his six hits scattered while Young wasn't so fortunate.

The Ozarks took a 2-0 lead in the second inning when Pappy Johnson walked and Crawley lined his homer over the centerfield fence.

Fayette City came back to take the lead 3-2 in the third as Young doubled for the league-leaders and then, with two outs, Hal Livingston hit to center field and on the throw in by Mike Young seemingly had Don Young nipped at the plate only to see Catcher Neil Hill drop the ball. Bill Lutes then followed with a homer to score two more markers.

Ozarks Come Back

Fighting back the Ozarks tied it up in the third when Joe Arrigo, who had reached base on Manown's two-base error, scored on Neil Hill's safe blow. Young fanned Crawley and Valla to end the threat in a neat exhibition of clutch hurling.

The winning marker crossed in the sixth when Crawley blasted his triple over third base to left field. After Andy Lenio was batting for Bill Valla, fanned, Bob Mastracci hit to the short-stop Ewing Bell, who threw home too late to get Crawley as he came in with the fourth and winning marker.

The Ozarks are at home again tomorrow night to Donora.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Everybody has trouble with buried lies in sand traps, but the trick is to minimize the trouble.

To dig a ball out of a buried lie in the sand, you need to hit a sharply downward blow, contacting th sand about two inches behind the ball. Th idea is to send the club down under the ball and DIG IT OUT.

To get a better digging angle with your sand wedge, toe it in a bit, closing the face. It will also help matters if you rivet your eyes on the spot where you want the clubhead to enter the sand. Don't expect much underspin on the ball from a shot like this.

Rooney Takes on New Luster as Partner in Randall Park Track

By RUDY CERNKOVIC

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The career of Art Rooney, a sports executive who served a rugged apprenticeship as a versatile athlete, takes on new luster with his role as race track partner.

Rooney, owner of the Pittsburgh Steelers, is a member of a group which paid $3,600,000 for the Randall Park track in Cleveland. The summer season opened at Randall last week under the new management.

Turf experts long have regarded Rooney as a brilliant player because of his spectacular success at picking winners. But Rooney shrugs off the honor.

"I never entered a bet to win," he said as he bit on a fresh cigar.

"I won because I outgambled the other fellow. I got a kick out of betting—money was secondary. I bet to win only when I reached the bottom of the barrel."

Evolves Horse Philosophy

Rooney has evolved a philosophy about playing the horses.

"I'm on the other side of the fence, now that I am a partner in a track," he said. "But here's advice to players—the fewer the bets, the better the chances.

"Don't keep betting to get even. There's always another day. Limit your losses, but never your winnings."

As a halfback who took his lumps with the Duquesne University team and in brawling sandlot games, Rooney has sustained his enthusiasm for football.

"Frankly, I'd rather have the National Football League championship than a Kentucky Derby winner," he confided. "Football is my first love."

Buys Steelers

In 1933 Rooney paid $2,500 for a National Football League franchise and built the Steelers into a threat.

"I thought this coming season might have been the year for the Steelers," he said. "We counted on Art Davis and Johnny Lattner, our halfbacks, and Lowell Perry at end to put us up among the winners.

"But Perry had to retire—at least for another season—because of a leg injury and is now one of our coaches. Lattner and Davis are doubtful because of knee injuries."

The Chicago Cubs carried Rooney on the roster in the closing weeks of the 1952 season after he had batted .375 with Wheeling (W. Va.) of the Middle Atlantic League. However, he never broke into the Cub lineup and rejected a later offer by the Boston Red Sox.

A former amateur welterweight champion who passed up a chance to represent the U.S. in the 1920 Olympics, Rooney has maintained a close interest in boxing.

The Rooney - McGinley Boxing Club was co-sponsor of the first heavyweight title bout ever staged in Pittsburgh. In it, Jersey Joe Walcott knocked out Ezzard Charles at Forbes Field in July, 1951, to win the title.

Since 1946 Rooney has operated Shamrock Farms, a breeding stable in Winfield, Md. He sadly recalls one of his thoroughbreds, Big Nose, as a "might-have-been."

"Big Nose won the New Jersey stallion stakes in 1950 and might have gone on to other things," Rooney said. "But death ended that hope."

Dodger Fans Told to Wait Until August 5

NEW YORK (UP — Brooklyn Dodger fans, and would-be Los Angeles Dodger fans, both were advised by a New York city official today to "wait until August 5th" for the next word on whether the team is leaving Brooklyn.

On or about that date, the official said, the report of the committed investigating whether a new Dodgers stadium can be built in Brooklyn will be submitted to the city's ruling body, the Board of Estimate.

Despite persistent whispers that the report will turn thumbs down on the stadium, the Dodgers have promised Mayor Robert F. Wagner to take no decision until the report has been completed.

The Dodgers' policy of silence was apparently broken Wednesday with club Vice President E.J. (Buzzy) Bavasi quoted in Jacksonville, Fla., as saying that, the team definitely will go to Los Angeles because "we can't get land for a new stadium."

"We would build the stadium if they would get us the land," Bavasi was quoted, "but the city fathers are not going to do that."

On his return to Brooklyn, Bavasi insisted that what he said in Jacksonville had been "misunderstood" by reporters.

"The situation is the same now as it was six weeks ago," Bavasi said. "In other words, we are simply waiting for the report to be made on the possibility of obtaining land to build a new stadium."

Baker Retires After Beating By Eddie Machen

CHICAGO (UP)—Bob Baker, a retired prize fighter, today gave an analysis of the No. 2 heavyweight, Eddie Machen.

"He's got to learn to bodypunch," Baker said. "If he don't, a lot of guys are going to beat him. They'll slip those punches of his at the head and get inside and somebody'll finish im."

Baker retired today, after he took a 10 - round whipping from Machen for the latter's 22nd consecutive victory, preserving his unbeaten record.

"I've always said that when I got a good whipping, I'd quit," Baker said. "I got a good whipping and I'm quitting. I might fight a ham and egger for a good purse, but I'm not going to fight any good boys anymore."

Baker, weighing 214 to 196 for Machen, never threatened in the bout. It was Baker's 11th loss in 59 pro fights covering 11 years.

Phils Rookie Sanford Sure Of Copping 20 Wins for '57

By FRED DOWN

Jack Sanford, who made it the hard way in contrast to so many of the National League's highly-publicized pitching prodigies, seems sure today to top 'em all by becoming the first rookie to win 20 games for the Philadelphia Phillies in 46 years.

The Phillies haven't had a rookie win 20 games since Grover Cleveland Alexander did it in 1911 but the 27-year-old speedballer from Wellesley, Mass., raised his record to 13-3 Wednesday night with a 3-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves.

The St. Louis Cardinals moved to within a game and a half of the first-place Braves when Larry Jackson shut out the Brooklyn Dodgers, 3-0, and the Cincinnati Redlegs were only two games from the top after Joe Nuxhall downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 2-0. The Chicago Cubs shaded the New York Giants, 2-1, in the other National League game.

No. 14 For Pierce

Billy Pierce scored his 14th victory as the Chicago White Sox kept the American League race "alive" with a 7-2 win over the New York Yankees while the third-place Boston Red Sox kept moving at a brisk pace with a 6-5 decision over the Kansas City Athletics. The Detroit Tigers beat the Baltimore Orioles, 5-1, and the Washington Senators scored a 5-4 victory after losing to the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, in other AL activity.

Sanford, who took 10 years to reach the majors, struck out eight Braves to raise his league-leading total to 124. He also delivered the game-winning blow when he doubled home Willie Jones in the seventh inning. He yielded the Braves' run in the bottom of the frame when Wes Covington homered.

Jackson turned in his 11th win for the Cardinals with a nifty three - hitter, striking out eight. Del Ennis doubled home the Cardinals' first run and Al Dark scored the other runs after his two triples. Sal Maglie was the loser.

Nuxhall pitched an eight - hitter for the Redlegs who scored both their runs against Bob Friend in the third inning on singles by Johnny Temple, Gus Bell and Frank Robinson plus an error by outfielder Bob Clemente. The loss defeat was Friend's 13th against eleven wins.

Don Elston's seven - hitter enabled the Cubs to beat the Giants for the second straight game and handed Johnny Antonelli his 10th setback. Jim Bolger's fifth-inning sacrifice fly brought in the decisive run.

Yank Hurlers Pouded

Pierce remained the amjors' biggest winner with a seven-hitter as the White Sox cut the Yanks' first-place lead to 4½ games with the help of four straight hits by Luis Aparicio. The White Sox kayoed Yankee ace Whitey Ford in 2 1-3 innings and went on to pound out 13 hits.

Tom Brewer won his 12th game of the year when the Red Sox scored six runs in the fourth inning. Sam White delivered a two-run single in the big inning and four other players knocked in one run each for the Red Sox.

Paul Foytack beat the Orioles for the fifth time this year as the Tigers pounded out 13 hits including three by Charley Maxwell and two each by Al Kaline, Frank House and Frank Bolling. Ex-Brooklyn fireballer Billy Loes suffered his fifth defeat for Baltimore.

Lew Berberet's two - run ninth-inning homer gave Washington's Chuck Stobbs his third win of the year over Cleveland after the Indians combined three singles and two sacrifice flies to score two ninth - inning runs and win the opener. Berberet's hit dealt 13-game winner Early Wynn his 11th

Groat, Friend Shine But Bucs Lose by 2-0

CINCINNATI (UP)—Four hits by Dick Groat and six-hit pitching by Bob Friend were not enough Wednesday night as the Pittsburgh Pirates bowed to Cincinnati 2-0.

Joe Nuxhall, an early season disappointment, pitched an eight-hitter to chalk up his third straight win, his fifth of the year. For Friend it was his 13th loss against seven victories.

The Pirates threatened in the fourth and sixth innings. Dick Groat singled and Frank Thomas doubled in both frames, but Nuxhall retired the next hitters on infield putouts.

The Redlegs scored both their runs with two out in the third, on successive singles by Johnny Temple, Gus Bell and Frankie Robinson, plus Roberto Clemente's muff of a George Crowe fly ball.

Nuxhall, for the second time within his last three starts, did not walk a batter. His other perfect control game was against the Bucs on July 14th.

Tonight Pittsburgh and Cincinnati with Pirate Ron Kline (2-13) scheduled to go on the mound against Art Fowler (1-0).

Sporstmen's Corner—

Women Helping Make Outdoor's Clubs 'Hum'

"There's many a true word said in jest," a saying goes. Many a woman really is a "fisherman's widow" or a "hunter's widow" at a season of the year, as is jokingly said. Other ladies take up the outdoor pastimes in self-defense, often becoming so proficient they embarrass friend husband. Then there are the ladies who offer sportsmen's clubs the kind of help only they can give, and the men are not embarrassed at all in accepting it. An Oil City newspaper brought out this point in a June 6th column from which exerpts quoted below.

"If it's true 'woman's work is never done', still she looks for more. And in sportsmen's clubs, too. Right handy to Oil City three clubs have woman's auxiliaries — the Izaak Walton League, the Oil City Archers and Venango County Buck Tails.

"The Buck Tails are 25 years old this year. If this group has been a success, credit much of that to their auxiliary. Without the women the club could be a flop. Ask any of the men.

"The Buck Tails held a membership dinner the other day. Who set the tables, planned and prepared the meal, washed the dishes and tidied up while the men smoked cigars? The women. But that's regular, routine stuff. This year the Auxiliary outfitted the dining room with new, easily-folding tables and chairs. Must have cost a pretty penny."

Traps 'Move' Signal—

"Live trapping of bears to remove the cause of damage have not proved so successful this spring in my Lycoming County district," says Game Protector Lester Harshbarger. "On two occasions a bear was causing damage for three or four nights in succession. In both instances as soon as a trap was placed the bear moved out and did not return. It would appear the trap acted as a signal to bears to leave for other parts."

'Scares' Crows—

A York County Game Protector, Daniel Fackler, says that farmers in his area who mowed around pheasant nests to leave a "grass island" learned the intended safeguard was no protection against the crow menace. The inquisitive, not-so-dumb crows investigated the unusual procedure, found the eggs or young in the nest and destroyed them.

Fackler says that "Howard Grim, of R. D. Red Lion, told me about a 'crow guard' he successfully used on two occasions last summer. Mr. Grim simply drove two stakes in the ground in the vicinity of the nest. He suspended rope or string between the stakes and says this simple device kept the crows away."

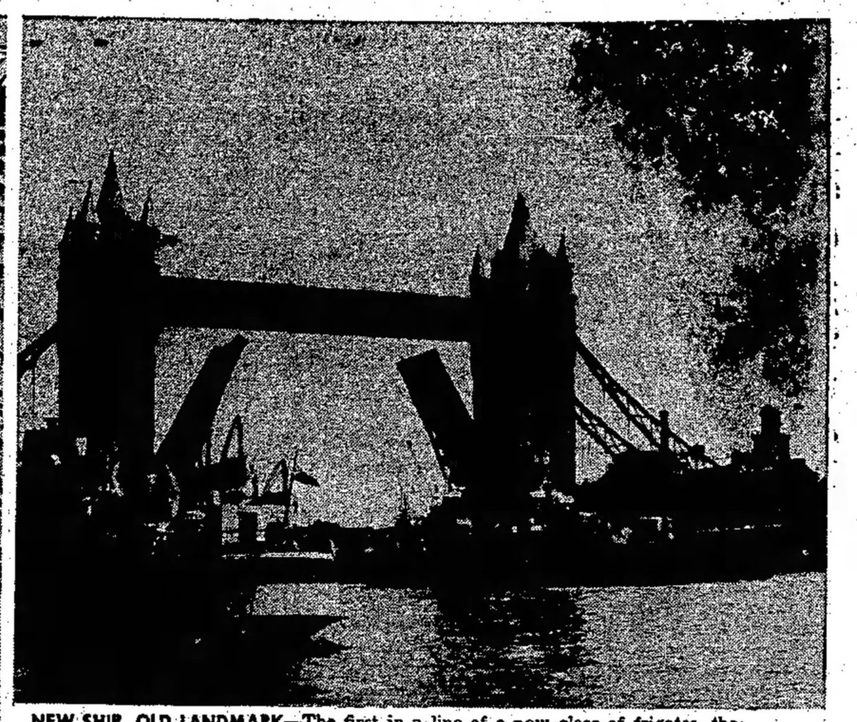
LEAVES US COLD—Large rhubarb leaves serve as cool hats for railroad workers under a hot sun in Kassel, Germany. (Hope no fashion designer sees this.)



NEW SHIP, OLD LANDMARK—The first in a line of a new class of frigates, the Salisbury (right) passes a pleasure steamer under London's Tower bridge before being moored in the Pool of London for a visit. Designed for direction of carrier-borne and shore-based planes, she carries more radar than others of her size.

SENATOR ESTES KEFAUVER (D), Tennessee, displays a layout of knives in introducing a bill in Washington to provide severe penalties for shipment of such lethal tools across state lines. The bill also would provide punishment for interstate sale of such knives to teenagers. Kefauver is chairman of a Senate committee investigating juvenile delinquency. (International Soundphoto)

A PUBLIC SPECTACLE—The queen's horses and the queen's men provide a colorful sight in London. With drawn sabers and gleaming helmets, the Queen's Life Guard passes through the Mall to Whitehall for changing of the guard ceremony.

ROYAL TIME

TO WATCH Britain's Prince Charles at play, one would think he was just another fun-loving, energy-packed eight-year-old. For proof, here are some photos taken during a sports day at the Duke of York's headquarters in London. The prince and his classmates from the Hill House day school gave a good account of themselves as they competed in a variety of exercises. Like any other boy, Prince Charles leaped from walls, climbed hand-over-hand over a make believe ravine and played a scaled down version of rugby. There was one difference though—his royal parents and sister were there to watch and anyone knew this was no ordinary eight-year-old.

Prince Charles (right) is moving across a "ravine."

He's helping classmates haul a piece of dismantled gun limber across "ravine."

COULD BE EXHAUST-ING—British battery Sgt.-Maj. W. Bunce is known as the "human ramp" and it's easy to see why. Here he lies on the ground holding a plank of wood above him as cyclists of a London transport school ride over him.

Billy Graham Says Proud Man Hardest to Save

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham said Wednesday night that he has found it "more difficult to bring a proud man to Christ than it is to win a drunkard, an adulterer or a narcotics addict."

The evangelist told a Madison Square Garden audience of 14,500 persons that "the sin of pride" afflicts thousands of Americans today and "we're proud and selfish as a people and as individuals."

"'I' is the sin of all of us," Graham said, "the sin of ego. We have 'I' trouble and it's not related to sight. We don't believe the truth, that pride is hateful to God. Yet God says, no proud man shall enter the kingdom of heaven.

"You don't come to God in pride, but in humility—that's the reason I ask you to come forward here to make your decision for Christ—to show humility."

As of Wednesday night, 1,232,100 persons have heard Graham since he began his New York Crusade May 15. The 349 persons who recorded "decisions for Christ" brought that total to 37,811.

Humphrey Anderson

GEORGE LETS BOB DO IT — Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey who retires next week, leaves a White House conference with his hand-picked successor, Robert Anderson. Wants Proper News Coverage of Trials

LONDON (UP)—Elisha Hanson, general counsel of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. called upon the American Bar Assn. today to help newsmen give "proper" coverage to court trials.

Hanson addressed a joint session of British and American lawyers on "publicity attendant upon trials" at the opening of the business sessions of the bar association convention here.

The convention—first full-sized one ever held in Europe by Americans—was launched by impressive ceremonies at Westminster Hall Wednesday. When they were over the American lawyers and their wives flocked to the bright lights and sights of Picadilly.

Some were hosted by their British colleagues at formal dinners while hundreds of others hit the theaters, reviews, nightclubs and pubs all over downtown London.

The business sessions opened this morning with Hanson's request that the association make "proper use of all media of mass communication."

He said that newspapers, television, radio and newsreels kept the public informed about the administration of justice.

"If the conflict arises between those two of our most cherished policies of democratic government—the right of the people to have information about matters of vital importance and the right of the accused to have a fair trial," he said, "then it is the duty of the court before which the conflict arises to make a proper accommodation between them so as to preserve the essentials of both. . ."

"Suppression of information concerning judicial proceedings," he said, "can only serve to destroy confidence in their fairness. Cooperation between the bench, the bar and the press is the proper method to remove all misconceptions about the administration of justice."

Drought in East Means Losses To the Farmer

By UNITED PRESS

One of the worst droughts to hit the eastern United States since 1900 is burning up fruit, vegetable and tobacco crops from Maine to Virginia, lowering water reserves to below-normal levels, and searing woodlands tinder dry.

Unless soaking rains end the three-month dry spell that has brought 11 eastern states to the brink of agricultural disaster, losses to farmers, florists and home gardners may reach the 50 to 75 million dollar mark by the end of the month. Crops now being harvested are 40-80 per cent below normal and market prices are resultingly higher.

The next four days may spell relief or disaster for the area, but the U.S. Weather Bureau is holding out no hope of relief. The bureau is predicting little or no rainfall for the weekend and no appreciable precipitation in the foreseeablt future.

Rainfall has been about 60 per cent below normal in the Middle Atlantic and New England States since May 1. States affected by the drought are Maine, New Hampshire, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia. Only Vermont and sections of upstate New York have had sufficient rainfall.

Unofficial Low Bids on School

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public School Building Authority today received unofficial low bids totaling $68,011 for construction of an addition to West Salem Twp. elementary school, Mercer County.

J. K. Bost, Jamestown, submitted a $49,701 low bid for general construction. Other bids included John A. Packard, Greenville, $6,724, heating; and $6,412 for plumbing; PIC Electric, Farrell, $5,174, electrical work.

Playing it Cool

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Southern California's current warm spell—it was 86 Wednesday — didn't bother actress Amanda Blake, the sexy saloon hostess on CBS-TV's "Gunsmoke" series. The latest story in the series features her sitting in a frontier-type bathtub filled with cool, cool water.

House Supporters of Federal School Bill Ready to Give Up

WASHINGTON (UP)— House supporters of the federal school construction bill all but tossed in the towel today.

A few House Republicans sought to get to President Eisenhower to tell him that only a strong last-minute plea by him could save the $1,500,000,000 compromise measure.

But White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said he knew of no plans by Eisenhower to issue such a special appeal before the vote on the bill expected by tonight.

Hagerty repeated his previous statements that "the President wants a school bill. He disagrees on some of the details of the pending bill but it is acceptable to him."

Even the most optimistic vote estimate still shows 30 or more votes would be needed for passage. A similar bill was killed last year.

This year's bill would authorize the federal government to spend 300 million dollars annually for four years to help states build needed schools.

Other congressional news:

Communists: Rep. H. Allen Smith (R-Calif.) introduced a bill calling for fines and jail sentences for persons who "knowingly and wilfully" are members of the Communist Party with knowledge of its purposes. Members would be fined up to $10,000 and subject to up to 10 years imprisonment.

Hells Canyon: Sen. Richard L. Neuberger charged the Eisenhower administration and the GOP with betraying the public interest in working for defeat of the Hells Canyon Dam bill. The House Interior Committee killed the bill 16-14.

Rackets: Senate Rackets Committee recalled the president and secretary - treasurer of the United Textile Workers Union to account for alleged misuse of $100,000 in union money. The committee charged the money was used to buy plush homes and luxuries. The hearing originally was scheduled Wednesday.

Reporter Kicked, Beaten; Can't Think of Reason

MURPHYSBORO, Ill. (UP)—A young, red-haired newspaper reporter, victim of an unmerciful beating, said today he could think of no reason for the "cowardly attack."

Robert McClure, 25, a reporter in the Murphysboro bureau of the Southern Illinoisian newspaper of Carbondale, Ill., was kicked and beaten into unconsciousness on Wednesday shortly after leaving a tavern.

He lay along US 51 for three and one-half hours before recovering consciousness and crawling to a farmhouse for aid. Authorities rushed him to Murphysboro Hospital where he was placed in an oxygen tent, and later released after treatment.

In recent months, McCure has written stories about the sale of liquor to minors, the mysterious tavern beating death of a Sparta, Ill., businessman and questionable road and bridge contracts.

The liquor-to-minor sale story involved the tavern McCure visited Tuesday night. However, the newsman said he and Gene Hines, owner of the tavern, were good friends. McClure said he did not think anyone in the tavern with him that night was involved.

$11,200 Is Found in N. Y. Cab

NEW YORK (UP) — No one came forward today to claim the $11,200 cabbie Harold Petrie found in his taxi. Democratic National Committeeman Carmine De Sapio said it wasn't his.

Petrie found the package of worn and water-stained bills on the back seat of his cab Wednesday morning just after he drove De Sapio from his lower Fifth Ave. home to the Hotel Biltmore, headquarters of the Democratic State Committee.

"I'm certain I left no package, certainly not one with $11,200 in it," De Sapio said.

The bills Petrie found were in $50 and $100 denominations. The notes were stiff and appeared to have become dampened and then dried.

The bills were old.

The hoard will become Petrie's in 90 days if it is not claimed.

Petrie said he picked up his fare at the Fifth Ave. address and drove him to the Biltmore. The fare was $1.25, he said. He described his passenger's appearance as that of De Sapio.

The Tammany leader and New York secretary of state confirmed he had taken such a course and paid a $1.25 taxi charge.

De Sapio said he had not noticed anything on the taxi seat when he got in. He said he had spread some morning mail out on the seat, but scooped them up when he arrived at the Biltmore.

"When I got out I left no package," he said. "I can't understand it."

No-Parking Ban Support Urged by Local Chamber

The Monessen Chamber of Commerce today urged downtown merchants to support the no-parking ban on Donner Ave., from Fourth to Sixth streets.

The parking ban will go into effect as soon as workmen remove abandoned street car rails from those two blocks.

"Free flowing traffic is of much more benefit to business people than the small amount of curb parking that was permitted in this area," stated the Chamber's Parking and Traffic committee in a letter to all members.

Benefit Shoppers

"Shopping parkers and all-day parkers should be encouraged to use our Parking Plaza facilties," continued the letter.

"Businessmen should support this ban or curb parking . . . and should be prepared to explain to the shopping public that the purpose of the new parking program is for their betterment."

The Chamber also asked members not to complain about the parking ban, which has been adopted on a 90-day trial basis.

"Clear up the public's misunderstanding by explaining to them that this new regulation on curb parking will decrease the nuisance of congestion in downtown Monessen," urged the letter, which was signed by A. Edward Wilen, chairman of the Parking and Traffic committee.

The Chamber also pointed out the parking ban will "make it possible for fire-fighting equipment to answer calls with their usual dispatch."

Surgeon General Hails Success of Salk Vaccine

WASHINGTON (UP) — Surgeon General Leroy Burney today hailed the success of the Salk anti-polio vaccine and urged 41 million still unvaccinated Americans to take the shots.

He reported that more than 68 million Americans have received at least one Salk shot since the program was started April 12, 1955.

Of this total, Dr. Burney said about 48 million need one or more shots to complete the recommended series of three injections. About 41 million persons under 40 years of age have had no Salk shots.

Dr. Burney reviewed the progress of the nation's polio vaccination program at a meeting with leading medical and public health authorities late Tuesday and summarized his views in a statement today.

He reported to the group that during the week ending July 13, only 56 paralytic cases were reported as compared to 212 during the same week last year. So far this year there have been a total of 1,743 polio cases, 730 of them paralytic. At the same time last year, there were 3,363 cases reported, 1,739 of them paralytic.

The drum is believed to be the oldest musical percussion instrument.

Combined Output Of Livestock and Crops Is Lower

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Agriculture Department said today the combined output of crops and livestock products in 1957 may be down as much as 5 per cent from 1956.

The department noted, however, that with large carryover stocks of wheat, cotton, corn and other feed grains, supplies of farm products generally will continue high.

Department economists, writing in the monthly publication "The Demand and Price Situation," said current production prospects indicate crop output this year may be 7 per cent below last year. This would be the smallest since 1951. The crop production index, based on the 1947-49 average, probably will be 99 per cent in 1957 compared with 106 per cent for last year, the department said.

Total production of livestock and livestock products likely will be off about 1 per cent from last year, dropping the livestock production index off 12 per cent a year ago to 121 per cent for this year.

The combined production index —crops and livestock products— probably will drop from 1956's 113 per cent to 108 per cent this year, the department added.

Gulf Earnings For Half Year Reported Up

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Net earnings from operations of Gulf Oil Corp. and subsidiary companies consolidated for the first six months of 1957 were approximately $177 564,000, a company spokesman said Tuesday.

In addition, a non-recurring profit, after capital gains tax, of $24,-191,000 was realized during the period from the sale of the company's remaining shares of Texas Gulf Sulphur stock, making a total net income of $201,755,000, the spokesman said.

Comparable operating income for the same period in 1956 was $141,545,000, after restatement to confirm with 1957 figures which are on the basis of the principles of consolidation adopted as of Dec. 31, 1956.

Gulf directors declared a 6½ cents per share dividend payable next September 10 to shareholders of record August 2, 1957.

The first six months of 1957 total net income on 29,645,892 outstanding shares, was equivalent to $6.81 per share, compared with $4.77 per share in the period during 1956 according to the spokesman.

Sheet Steel Upturn Expected In August

NEW YORK (UP) — The anticipated improvement in steel operations will get underway late in August, shifting into high gear around November, Iron Age said today.

The magazine said major steel users may be touching bottom on inventories, one of the factors behind "growing optimism for second half steel demand."

"Even usually - cautious sales managers see a definite upturn in sight for the 'easier' products—hot and cold-rolled sheet," the metalworking weekly said.

It predicted that the auto and appliance industries would help spark the upturn in steel demand late next month, although the trade journal noted that "the real push for tonnages may not materialize until November."

"The auto companies can't miss operating at capacity in the last quarter," the publication quoted one steelmaker as saying. It said he looks for demand from appliance makers to begin strengthening in September and October.

Iron Age said the improvement in demand for sheets will affect supplies of light plate in the near future.

The magazine explained that mills have been rolling light plate on sheep-strip mills. However, it said that as sheet demand strengthens, plate production will be shifted back to regular plate mills.

"One mill already is restricting its acceptance of orders for light plate for August - September delivery," Iron Age said.

Local Residents Never Had It So Good, Labor Statistics Show

Financially speaking, Monessen residents never had it so good.

At least that's what the latest batch of statistics from the U. S. Department of Labor would seem to indicate.

The cold, realistic figures contend that the "good old days" were not so good and that "today's gloomy days" aren't really gloomy.

Despite higher taxes, higher prices, Social Security, unemployment insurance deductions and all the other digs in the pay envelope, the average Monessen family has more purchasing power than ever before.

For instance, in 1919, if you were a factory worker, you averaged 47.7 cents an hour. That was the year sandwiched between the inflation of World War I and the recession of 1920-21.

It was one of those years the oldsters refer to as the "good old days."

The average factory wage now is $1.88 per hour throughout the nation. In the industrial Mon Valley it is even higher. That is almost a 300 per cent increase over the 1919 level.

But you'll argue, increased prices and taxes more than wipe out the gain. Is that really the case?

True enough, there was no tax bite back in 1919. Today between 15 and 20 per cent of the pay envelope is clipped by taxes and other deductions.

According to government figures, the average factory worker still takes home better than $70 per week.

As for prices, the startling fact is that they're not really so much higher than back in 1919.

A check through The Daily Independent that year revealed that men's shirts were selling from $2.50 to $10; men's suits from $20 to $80; phonograph records from 85 cents to $1; women's suits from $25 to $75; boys' shoes from $4 to $7.

Food prices weren't so low either. Veal roast cost 18 cents per pound, bacon 29 cents; beef roast 31 cents and Florida oranges 39 cents per dozen.

Buicks that year were priced from $1495 to $2585.

At the most, then, some prices have doubled while take-home wages have more than tripled.

There's a reason for this increased purchasing power in spite of the many deductions.

Here's what the Bureau of Labor has to say:

"The major reason for the increase in the purchasing power of earnings is the increase in the productivity of labor. That brings down prices and prevents prices from rising as rapidly as wages."

So now who wants the "good old days" back?

After all, figures don't lie.

Tyrone Doctor Gets State Job

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Health Department today announced the appointment of Dr. Gunhild Gislerud, Tyrone, as assistant public health physician in charge of the department's Cancer Control Section.

Dr. Gislerud, a native of Norway, will receive $7,407 annually.

Soviet Navy In Far East

TOKYO (UP)—Japanese defense board authorities were reported today to be concerned over the sudden appearance of Soviet naval craft in Far Eastern waters.

The authorities wondered if the movement of two Russian destroyers of the latest type and a tanker was connected with the Soviet government's closure of Vladivostok Bay to foreign shipping and aircraft last Saturday.

The Russian action was believed taken for military reasons inasmuch as Vladivostok is the Soviet Union's largest naval base in the Far East.

Defense Board authorities said the two destroyers and the tanker were being sent by the Soviet Union to the Far East either as a "demonstration of power" or a move to bolster its Far Eastern naval force.

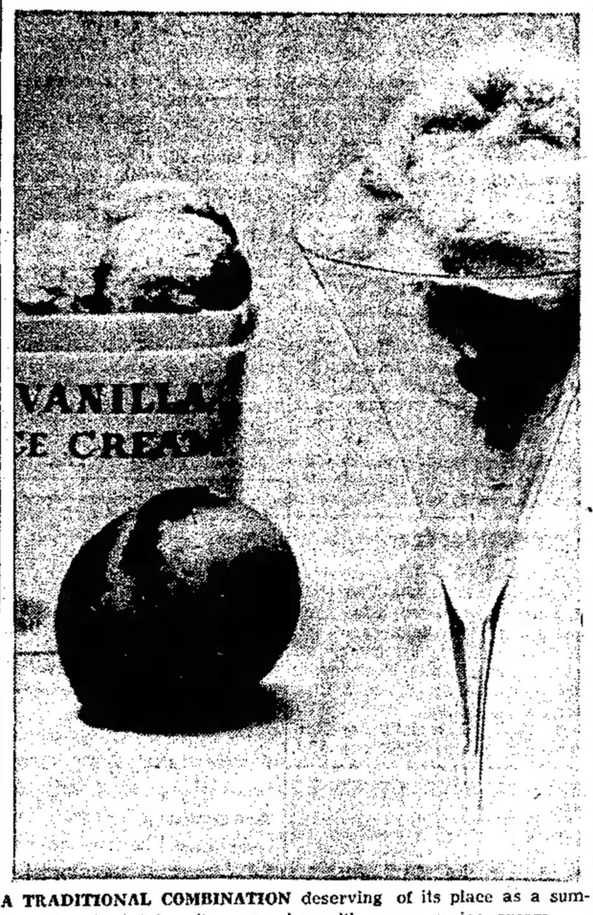
YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber



A TRADITIONAL COMBINATION deserving of its place as a summer time dessert favorite — peaches with cream or ice cream.

Tasty Peach Desserts Are Good July-August Fare

Ever since those first Georgia peaches came to market in July, they have been tempting us. July and August are the months, however, that mark the height of the season. This is when we often find not only fine quality but moderate price.

Edith Barber

The peach growers have been concerned with developing fruit that will not only have fine flavor but will bear transportation to distant markets. In the regions where the crops are large, buyers discriminate among the various types that may be offered at the same time. The flesh may be white or it may be yellow, but this is not a criterion for flavor.

There are those who feel the peach with the clingstone has the best flavor. It is not so easy to slice into attractive portions and for this reason the freestone peaches are preferred for some purposes. It makes little difference when the fruit is to be used for a cooked dessert such as a cobbler or a pie.

While we enjoy one of these occasionally, there is nothing better than fresh peaches with cream unless it is a shortcake, for which the fruit is merely sugared before it is put between the crusts. Plain or whipped cream is always indicated with shortcake. One of the favorite flavorings for ice cream is peach. Fully as good is the combination of sliced peaches with vanilla ice cream.

FRESH PEACH SAUCE

1 cup mashed fresh peaches
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ cup sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla extract

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Chill. Serve over vanilla ice cream, or use in making ice cream sodas. Yield: 1 cup.

ORANGE SAUCE FOR PEARS OR PEACHES

2 egg yolks
½ cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup orange juice

Place egg yolks in top of small double boiler. Beat until foamy. Stir in sugar and continue stirring over hot water until thoroughly blended. Remove from heat and add orange juice. Chill before serving.

STEWED DRIED APRICOTS

Use preceding recipe for stewed dried prunes. Omit lemon and simmer about 20 minutes, until fruit is soft. Sweeten to taste just before removing from heat and stir until sugar is dissolved. Cool, covered, to obtain thick syrup.

Dried Prunes Are Popular Breakfast Fare

At one time stewed prunes were rather scornfully associated with boardinghouse life. Today this is all changed. Few boardinghouses remain and prunes have deservedly achieved an excellent reputation as one of the finest of the dried fruits.

With the modern methods of cultivating the prune type of plum especially for drying and the careful treatment given the fruit, the quality is excellent. It is graded for size and small prunes are less expensive.

The same method of cooking should be used. After washing and placing prunes in a saucepan, just enough water to cover should be poured over them. Soaking for a short time will reduce the time needed for cooking. This water should be covered and allowed to cook over low heat until soft.

The prunes should be kept covered and allowed to cool in the liquid. Then there will be flavor both in the fruit and in the liquid. This syrupy liquid thickens as the prunes cool. A few slices of lemon may be added during the cooking or before cooling.

If prunes are to be used for a whip, a souffle or a pie filling, they will be pitted after cooking. Fruit of medium size is more economical than that of smaller size.

Dried apricots should be cooked in the same fashion as prunes. It will be necessary to add sugar to taste just before removing the apricot from the heat, where they should remain until the sugar is thoroughly dissolved. The same method may be used for dried figs, which however, are not always available for stewing.

STEWED DRIED PRUNES

Wash and soak dried prunes in just enough water to cover, about an hour. Cover and simmer in same water about 10 minutes, until fruit is soft. Add 1 to 2 slices of lemon, if desired. Cool, covered, to obtain thick syrup. Note: If sweet prunes are used, no extra sugar will be needed. If prunes are sour, sweeten to taste before removing from heat and stir until sugar is dissolved.

Sour Cream Tasty Addition to Many Salads

One may call it "salad cream," "commercial sour cream," or just "sour cream." A slight prejudice still lingers against that adjective "sour" when used with milk or cream. Before the days of pasteurization and good refrigeration, it was a real problem to keep these dairy products sweet in warm weather.

Often; a thunder storm would be blamed for souring them. Actually, the warm humid weather that usually precedes thunder and lightning was the culprit.

Dairies in large cities in this country first offered a modern type of sour cream to meet the demands of residents from European countries who used it so much as an accessory with fruit and as an ingredient of many main dishes.

Sour cream is used as a topping or dressing for baked potatoes and for some other vegetables.

Those who have visited Devonshire in England are familiar with the famous cream, so delicious with locally grown strawberries which are usually served for tea rather than at another meal. There will be a pot of cream that may be used to spread on bread and also with the berries.

GOURMET BAKED POTATOES

6 baking potatoes
Salad oil or shortening
1 cup sour cream (salad cream)
6 tablespoons finely chopped scallions
1½ teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Scrub and dry potatoes. Rub with a little salad oil or shortening, and bake in hot oven (450 Degrees F.) 45 to 60 minutes, or until tender. Remove potatoes from oven and scoop out centers, reserving shells. Mash potato. Add sour cream, scallions, salt and pepper. Beat until fluffy and smooth. Fill potato shells with mixture, and place under broiler for 5 minutes or until top is lightly browned. Top with sour cream and serve at once. Yield: 6 servings.

DEVONSHIRE STRAWBERRY CREAM PIE

1 cup sliced fresh strawberries
3 tablespoons sugar
1 package strawberry-flavored gelatin
1 cup boiling water
½ cup cold water
1 cup sour cream (salad cream)
½ teaspoon almond extract
Vanilla Crumb Shell (9-inch)

Combine strawberries and sugar. Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add cold water. Stir dissolved gelatin gradually into sour (salad) cream. Add almond extract, and beat mixture (with rotary beater) until smooth. Chill until it begins to thicken. Fold in sweetened strawberries. Pour mixture into Vanilla Crumb Shell. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

VANILLA CRUMB SHELL

Mix 1 cup vanilla wafer crumbs with 3 tablespoons melted butter. Pack mixture firmly on bottom of 9-inch pie plate. After strawberry mixture is poured over crumb shell, whole wafers may be placed in standing position around the sides of the pie plate.

QUICK MEAL

Veal Scallopini, gourmet baked potatoes, peas, salad bowl, raspberries, coffee (hot or iced).

RASPBERRY PUDDING
by Madame Krekeler — German Embassy

½ cup raspberries
1 cup fresh currants
1½ cups water
6 or 7 tablespoons sugar
8 tablespoons cornstarch

Bring berries and water to a boil, then rub berries through a fine sieve, saving the liquid in which they were cooked. Add sugar to liquid and bring to a boil. Stir cornstarch into a little juice and pour into the remaining juice, stirring constantly. Boil for about 3 minutes. Pour into mould which has been rinsed with cold water and turn out when chilled and set. Serve with vanilla sauce or cream or whipped cream.

National Dishes Are Traditional In Washington

There is no doubt food tastes are conditioned in childhood.

In Washington, the Embassy wives are usually here for a long stay and they are naturally inclined to reproduce the dishes they know and love so well when they are at home in their own countries. All of them agree that the American kitchen with its fine equipment is one of the things they enjoy most.

They seem to be particularly impressed with the refrigerators and the ranges with their insulated and regulated ovens. In one kitchen, there was the latest model of a gas range with the new regulator for top-of-the-stove cookery. While a chef or a cook presides in the kitchen the Ladies of the Embassies choose the menus.

The "Ambassador-esses" when questioned as to their favorite foods will often mention a number. The recipes for a French specialty served by Madame Couve de Murville while in Washington, and one for a German choice for warm weather from Madame Krekeler are presented today.

Tasty Recipe

WATERCRESS SOUP
by Madame Couve de Murville

2 medium size potatoes.
1 large onion
1 quart salted water
1 large or 2 small bunches watercress. Sprinkle of freshly ground pepper.
2 egg yolks
4 tablespoons sweet cream.

Boil potatoes and onion in water. When tender, remove from liquid but save water. Sieve potatoes and onion or put through vegetable mill to puree. Set aside. Pick over and wash watercress. Chop or cut fine with kitchen scissors, discarding the heavy ends of stems. Reheat the puree in the liquid in which it was cooked and when it comes to a boil, add the chopped watercress. Let come to a boil again over a low flame and after a minute, remove from heat. Taste and salt if needed. Add black pepper and the egg yolks beaten well with the cream. Heat for a minute but do not boil. Serve at once with a sprig of cress in each bowl.

Fast Tax Write Program Doomed

By ROBERT F. COLL

WASHINGTON (UP) —The fast tax write-off, a boon or a boondoggle depending on how you look at it, is headed for slow strangulation by an unfriendly administration.

Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey calls the war-born tax incentive to business "an artificial stimulus of a dangerous type."

Rapid write-offs, according to Humphrey, will cost the government three billion dollars and postpone the day "when general tax reduction can be enjoyed by all the people."

Basically the rapid write-off is a government incentive to firms that put up defense plants they may not necessarily want or need. The write-off lets them charge for the tax purposes the cost of the expansion over five years instead of the customary 20 years or more.

Raises Treasury Costs

But by letting firms take the shorter, bigger deductions, the Treasury cuts its own current income. This means it must continue to pay interest on notes, bonds and the like which might otherwise be paid off. Hence Humphrey's three - billion-dollar figure.

The government has granted rapid write-offs in as many as 229 fields. But largely through Humphrey's needling and a different attitude in the Office of Defense Mobilization, only four fields are now open for the tax benefits.

The many critics of the program charge that some favored firms are getting the government to do their expansion borrowing for them in a booming economy and a "tight money" market.

Business Calls It "Reward"

Business interests, led by the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, claim the system is a just reward for a firm that expands along lines dictated by national security.

Humphrey conceded the write-off might have been a good device to meet the Korean emergency and a desirable alternative to government construction and ownership of plants private industry wasn't eager to build.

But he said this was "far different" from giving a fast write-off to "select industries or general purpose plants."

Humphrey's attitude, along with that of Defense Mobilizer Gordon Gray, is to shelve the write-off except for extremely specialized line such as guided missile production where private industry is unlikely to venture on its own.

The Sequoia trees in California were named for Sequoia, the son of a white man and a Cherokee woman of mixed blood.

Legal Warning Over Status of Forces Agreement

LONDON (UP)—A loophole in U.S. status of forces agreements leaves American servicemen open to trial in foreign courts even if the United States and foreign governments find no grounds for prosecution, two experts on international law said today.

The warning was sounded at the American Bar Assn's annual convention here by R. R. Baxter, assistant proessor of law at Harvard University and a former Defense Department attorney, and G. I. A. D. Draper, London University law lecturer and former Judge advocate in the British Army.

In many countries, they said, there is nothing to prevent a private citizen from filing criminal charges agains atnAmr eceanvefni charges against an American even after the governments involved have agreed there is no case.

Theoretically, this could subject military personnel on overseas duty to long pre-trial imprisonment in addition to the expense in time and effort of answering unjustified charges.

Snow and Runoff Water Found to Be Radioactive

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UP) — Some snow and runoff water in the northeast mountain area of California has shown "radioactivity higher than the safe limit for continuous ingestion," the State Department of Public Health reported today.

A spokesman at department headquarters in Berkeley emphasized there is no threat, as yet, to storage reservoirs.

"We do not presently consider this a threat," the spokesman said. "There is no indication of any radioactivity in the reservoirs of the state or any domestic sources."

He explained that if a person were to drink the runoff waters over a period of months, then "the possibility might exist that some danger could be involved."

Who Wears the Pants Is Problem?

LONDON (UP)—The big problem in the British army today is over who wears the pants.

War Minister John Hare said "the most difficult marriages" in the proposed amalgamation of army units "was between a regiment which wore kilts and a regiment which wore the trousers. He said the units will be left to fight out the uniform of the day "unless there is no reconciliation."

Special Election In Blair County

HARRISBURG (UP)—A special election will be held Nov. 5 in Blair County's second legislative district to fill the General Assembly seat of the late Rep. Daniel H. Erb.

Patti Page Is Looking Forward to Own Show

(William Ewald is on vacation. Today's guest writer is Patti Page, who will host next fall's "The Big Record" show on CBS-TV.)

By PATTI PAGE

NEW YORK (UP) — I can't help but smile every time I think of doing the weekly "Big Record" show on CBS-TV starting in September.

I remember when I left the bosom of my apprehensive family in Tulsa, Okla., all my thoughts were concerned with the excitement that lay ahead of me, the thrill of discovering New York and Chicago and Hollywood, traveling from new place to new place, meeting new people.

I have been lucky. I've seen and lived in all the places I dreamed about. The past years have been exciting and fulfilling. But I look forward to "The Big Record" because it means a return to a semblance of normalcy, a state of living I once would have shunned like a plague.

Wanderlust Vanishes

It means staying in one place, New York, for months at a time, an experience I haven't enjoyed since I started out. It means having a home. It means being able to play ahead with the sure knowledge of where I'll be on any given day. As you may have guessed, the wanderlust that once possessed me has vanished.

Of course, doing an hour show every Wednesday evening is far from a normal way of life. Television, being what it is there are countless anxieties you must learn to live with.

Besides your personal appearance (one hair out of place is noticed and remarked upon by millions) and your own contributions to the show, there are hundreds of technical problems which must be worked out together with the producer and director.

I have used the word "work" advisedly because, essentially, that's what success in television is based upon. In little ol' Patti, the producers have a hostess with mosiess background of hard work they'll ever find in a bookful of pages. Just to let you in on a little secret—my six week trip to Europe this summer is my first vacation since I started my career.

Has High Budget

I understand the budget for guests on "The Big Record" is the largest in the history of CBS-TV, so the names will be big — rrrreally big! The guests won't be limited to the music field either, since anyone who has ever made a recording is eligible. This would include dramatic actors, comedians and movie people.

As I said, I'm very high on the show and its prospects, but underneath it all, I guess I'm happiest about staying put for a while.

It's been a long-wandering road up and I've had my fill of packing and unpacking. From now on, New York is my home and the first thing I'm going to do is flout one of its long-standing customs.

I'm going to get to know my next-door neighbor, darned if I won't!

Comedy to Open Monday at White Barn Theatre

The comedy, "The Prince and the Chorus Girl", written especially to add to the London festivites surrounding the Coronation of Queen Elizabeth in 1953, will be the next White Barn Theatre presentation.

It will open Monday, and will play through Saturday, August 3, co-producers Carl Low and Clay Flagg announce.

The action of the play takes place in the legation of the mythical kingdom of Carpathia in London during June 1911. The plot deals with the romantic advances, retreats and pitched battles of a middle-aged Prince Regent and an American chorus girl.

Appearing in the White Barn theatre cast of "The Prince and the Chorus Girl" will be Carl Low, Barbara Foley, Mae Munro, Clyde Waddell, Dorothy Masterson, Dan Gogan and others.

The White Barn Theatre, adjacent to the Colonial Manor Hotel is located on Route 30 two miles west of Irwin.

Call the Doctor if Black Widow Bites

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

A vacation menace in many sections of the country is the black widow spider. Children especially are likely victims of this dangerous insect whose bite is sometimes fatal.

In many cases, the site of the bite might not be seen, and worried parents might lose valuable time trying to figure out what made their youngster ill. So it's extremely important to be able to recognize the symptoms in order to begin proper treatment promptly.

The bite produces a sharp pain which usually disappears pretty rapidly. Occasionally, it will linger for as long as four or five hours. For the next 15 minutes or half an hour the victim might feel perfectly comfortable.

Then local muscular cramps will set in. The victim will become weak and probably will complain of excruciating pain in the limbs. Most likely he'll develop a very tender and rigid abdomen.

Speech may become difficult and his breathing labored. The pulse will be feeble and the heartbeat slowed. There may be a rise in temperature, an increase in blood pressure, headaches and vomiting.

Small children may get convulsions.

There's not much you can do for the victim. Best thing is call a doctor as quickly as possible. Despite its rather violent symptoms, a black widow bite seldom is fatal. Most of those that are, are caused by the female of the species.

The black widow is coal black and about ½ inch long.

The mature female has one red or orange hourglass marking on its belly. The immature female has three additional spots of similar color on its back

The spiders prefer dark and damp places. That's why they often are found in basements, garages and around country homes.

A good way of getting rid of them is to spray their haunts with a 10 per cent solution of DDT in kerosene.

We have many medicines which provide us with an effective way of dealing with spider bites.

Morphine and phenobarbital sodium can be used to kill the pain.
